Le Fevre Asks Army Dredge New Channel at Bridge Site

Jones Buys Treadwell Feed, Supply Outlet

Transaction Is for Everett-Treadwell Firm Established in 1864; Includes Buildings, Fixtures, Merchandise

One of the largest and most important real estate and business transactions in Kingston in some time was consummated this morning when a contract of sale for the Everett & Treadwell Company farm machinery, feed and farm supplies business on North Front street was signed between Cornelius S. Treadwell and Richard S. Jones, of Hurley, purchaser.

Transfer of the business will take place in early April when Jones will take possession.

The sale includes the three story brick building at 126 to 132 North Front street as well as the business, fixtures and stock of merchandise.

The business was established in 1864 by the late Major James H. Everett and Joseph C. Treadwell, father of C. S. Treadwell, and has been conducted continuously since that time at its present location. In 1890 the firm of Everett & Treadwell Company purchased a site on Broadway adjoining the West Shore railroad and erected a large new building where until 1946 a wholesale grocery, feed and produce business was conducted. Meanwhile the original retail feed and farm supply business was continued at the North Front street address.

In 1946 the wholesale business on Broadway was sold and Treadwell continued to operate the retail feed and farm supply business on North Front street handling feeds, fertilizers, spray materials, seeds, John-Deere farm machinery and equipment, Park & Pollard Company feeds and other farm supply lines.

Shortly after Treadwell began to devote his entire time to the retail business on North Front street a large concrete addition approximately 70 by 100 feet in size was erected at the rear of the original building. This new addition is used for storage space for merchandise, as a loading platform and for garage space. An old barn which had been on the site for many years was razed to make room for the new addition.

Treadwell Will Retire

Treadwell, after 50 years of association with the business established by his father and Major Everett, plans to retire from active business although he will spend some time closing out his present interests. Treadwell informed a Freeman reporter that he desired, after his long association with the business life of Kingston to be relieved of further business responsibilities with the company and had consequently decided to dispose of the business.

Richard S. Jones was born in the city and had been a resident of Kingston until he recently took

Spain Trip Last

Neighbors of Mrs. Jane Thompson (above) said in New York she traveled to Spain with Raymond Fernandez in 1947 and never returned. They said Fernandez reported Mrs. Thompson was killed in a train accident there. Fernandez and Martha Beck are in custody in Michigan in connection with three "lonely hearts" slayings. This photo was published in 1931 in a Rochester, N. Y., yearbook when she was Jane Wilson and a member of high school faculty.

Two May Be Sent To New York for Trial for Murder

Fernandez and Mrs. Beck Await Officials' Decision; Gehrig to Ask First Degree Bill

Mineola, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—The district attorney of Nassau county said today that Raymond M. Fernandez and his 200-pound girl friend, Martha Beck, will be brought from Michigan to face a "lonely hearts" murder charge.

Conviction of first degree murder in New York carries a death penalty.

District Attorney James N. Gehrig asked a bench warrant against the pair to speed their return.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 3 (AP)—The shadow of New York's electric chair lay today at the jail cell door here of Raymond Martinez Fernandez and Martha Beck.

It remained to be determined, however, whether the two alleged "lonely hearts" killers would face justice in Michigan or the eastern state.

In Michigan the pair are charged with two murders. Authorities say they have admitted a third in New York.

Hawaiian-born Fernandez, 34, and stout Mrs. Beck, 29, waived examination in a lower Michigan court yesterday and were held without bond.

The possibility existed that they might be extradited to New York, which has capital punishment. Michigan's Legislature only yesterday rejected a capital punishment bill, and life imprisonment remains the extreme penalty in this state.

The Michigan charges against Fernandez and Mrs. Beck are based on the shooting of widowed Mrs. Delphine Downing, 29, and the drowning of her 21-month-old daughter, Rainell.

Prosecutor Roger C. McMahon said the pair also have admitted killing Mrs. Janet Fay in New York.

All three slayings, McMahon said, were committed to cover up frauds by the swarthy Fernandez and bulky Mrs. Beck in preying on lovelorn women.

New York state officers consulted with Kenty county officials today over future action.

District Attorney James N. Gehrig of New York's Nassau county said he would ask a grand jury for a first degree murder indictment in Mrs. Fay's death.

New York, he added, then would

Atwood Resident Loses $2,800 in Tour of Stores

Mrs. Barbara Turner of Atwood today was awaiting a ring on the telephone that would come as an answer to a prayer.

She wants to hear that voice that will tell her of the finding of her purse which contained an estimated $2,800 when she lost it yesterday during a shopping tour of the city.

The money is part payment from the sale of the Turner home and was converted into cash from two checks totaling $3,000 before Mrs. Turner, her son, and daughter-in-law began their tour of local stores.

Mrs. Turner remembered today that she had been mindful of holding tightly to the purse as she traveled about the city, but when she went to get into her car on Wall street near John street shortly before 2 p. m. yesterday, she discovered it was gone.

The tour had included stops at the Smith Avenue Bull Market, telephone office, and several stores on Wall street, but there was a question today as to which store had been visited last.

The amount lost, Mrs. Turner said, represented "hard earned money," which she and her husband had invested in their home, and they had been considering spending some of it on a property in Hurley.

Mrs. Turner, her son and daughter-in-law went first to the sheriff's office at about 2 p. m. to report the loss. Under Sheriff Stanley H. Winne relayed the information to police headquarters and Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krum were assigned to investigate.

The detectives said today that they had obtained as much information as possible in retracing the shopping tour, but came upon nothing to indicate where the money was lost.

Mrs. Turner said the money was in a small, red wallet inside a black patent leather bag. She had cashed the checks to pay several bills, she said, and it was her plan to consider with her husband a budget for the balance when she returned home.

Buyer Has Choice

New York, March 3 (AP)—The automobile market has reached the point at which a consumer can buy any type car he chooses, according to Charles Kreisler, president of the New York State Used Car Dealers Association. Kreisler, describing this condition as "normal," said the season factor is back in the automobile business because new car production now is large enough to satisfy the wants of buyers. Emphasizing that there was no new car shortage, Kreisler said a consumer could buy a car in any price line. He predicted, however, that from March 15 to July demand would exceed supply for used cars selling under $2,000. He added that used car unit sales have declined about 50 per cent from this time last year.

U. S. Reds Now in Line

New York, March 3 (AP)—U. S. Communist leaders pledged their party today to oppose any war provoked by "Wall Street" interests despite "the efforts of the peace forces of America and the world."

A statement issued by Communist National Chairman William Z. Foster and General Secretary Eugene Dennis declared American Communists would take no part in "an unjust, aggressive and imperialist war."

On the contrary, the statement said, the Communists would "cooperate with all democratic forces to defeat the predatory war aims of American Imperialism and bring such a war to a speedy conclusion on the basis of a democratic peace."

The reference to democracy was in the line with the usual Communist policy of calling Com-

Freeman Ad Packs B'way Furniture Store

A special Dollar Day sale at the store of Andy's Furniture Company, 86 Broadway, displayed prominently in Freeman advertising, attracted crowds today that jammed traffic on lower Broadway.

Management estimated that from 900 to 1,100 persons had visited the store from 9 a. m., until noon today, and they were "still coming" at the time the report was issued.

Ten attractive items, listed in the advertisement, drew the crowds, but the management said today that many other sales were made of items not on the special sale list.

Included on the sale list were canister sets, metal kitchen stools, boudoir lamps, enamel roasters, refrigerator sets, pillows and mirrors.

Long Island Railroad Files As Bankrupt; to Reorganize

New York, March 3 (AP)—The ancient Long Island Railroad, butt of jokes and complaints by generations of New York commuters, has filed a petition in bankruptcy.

The 115-year-old carrier, wholly-owned subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Railroad, said yesterday it would have to reorganize in spite of new financial life blood injected in its veins Tuesday in the form of a commuter fare increase.

The increase, granted by the New York Public Service Commission would range up to 33 1/3 per cent over fares now in force and, on an annual basis, would add over $3,000,000 to the Long Island's revenues. It was levied on a temporary basis until November 1, pending drafting of a permanent fare schedule.

The petition for reorganization, filed in Federal Court here, said the Long Island had debts of $55,000,000 that it cannot pay. These consist chiefly of approximately $40,000,000 of bonds, which became due Tuesday.

The company had only $60,000 in available cash on January 31 and its current assets were about $5,000,000 short of current liabilities. Current assets are listed at $10,416,000 ase of December 31.

Federal Judge Harold M. Kennedy directed the Long Island to continue operating its own property until trustees are appointed March 11.

The Pennsylvania Railroad owns all the Long Island's capital stock

Wicks Introduces Pay Boost Bill for Troopers, Others

Stephens Has Companion Measures in Assembly Presented Prior to Deadline

Albany, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—State police would get salary increases ranging from $180 a year for a trooper to $825 annually for the deputy superintendent under legislation now under consideration.

Companion bills to provide the raises were among hundreds of measures that poured into the Senate and Assembly to meet a March 1 deadline. Clerks were still recording and indexing the bills today.

From now until the end of the session, proposed legislation can be submitted in the two houses only through their respective rules committees.

Measures to boost state police salaries was offered by Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston and Assemblyman D. Mallory Stephens of Brewster, both Republicans and chairmen, respectively, of the Senate finance and the Assembly ways and means committees.

The proposal would raise a trooper's base pay for his first year of service from $1,200 to $1,380 annually. All automatic increases also would be boosted through the seventh year of service, when the pay would be hiked from $2,700 to $3,120. That would be the maximum pay for a trooper.

Other ranks also would receive increases up to the deputy superintendent whose base salary would go up from $8,500 to $9,325.

Other state salary bills introduced by Wicks and Stephens would:

Increase from $5,700 to $6,385 the minimum annual pay for wardens and chief administrative officers of state prisons.

Increase from $4,150 to $4,715 the annual salaries of district superintendents of schools.

Continue emergency pay to state employes for the fiscal year beginning April 1 and incorporate that pay scale permanently into base salaries.

Emergency pay rates are 15 per cent of base salaries up to $3,000, 10 per cent up to $5,000 and five per cent for salaries above $5,000, with a maximum limit of $1,000.

A bill introduced by Assemblyman Angelo Gaeci, Queens Republican, would require that teachers and supervisors in public schools take loyalty oaths.

Washington, March 3 (AP)—The House Banking Committee voted 23 to 2 today to extend rent controls for 15 months, rejecting an administration request for a 24 months' continuation.

At Least 11 Die As House Burns

Fire Breaks Out From Blast in Oil Stove; Fear Death to 3 Others

Muskegon, Mich., March 3 (AP)—A widowed mother, at least nine of her children and a roomer were burned to death today when a fire destroyed their flimsy frame home.

The flames, starting when an oil stove exploded, swept through the home of Mrs. Maude Clover at Lakewood, a little resort community 12 miles north of here.

The charred bodies of 46-year-old Mrs. Clover and nine children, ranging in age from 3 to 15 years, were pulled from the ruins. A roomer, identified as August Tasky, also perished.

Deputy sheriffs said in addition three more Clover children may have died.

One badly burned survivor was brought to Mercy Hospital in Muskegon.

In critical condition and almost incoherent, 17-year-old Howard Clover said the flames leaped out of the stove at about 8 a. m. (E.S.T.) when the widow and her family were preparing breakfast. Most of the children were sleeping at the time.

Within a few moments the wooden house, once used only as a summer residence, was all aflame.

Young Clover said he stumbled to a window and pulled his 21-year-old brother, Ward, out with him.

Victor Harvey of Montague, one of the first persons to reach the scene, said the two youths "were like human torches."

Deputies said they had recovered the following bodies from the ruins:

Mrs. Clover, Tasky, Artie Clover, 3, Nancy, 5, Sandy, 6, Jimmie, 7, Harold, 10, David, 9, Roger, age unknown, Joan, 15, and one unidentified body.

Seven Persons Die

Halifax, N. S., March 3 (AP)—Seven persons died in their beds and three others were injured—one critically — here early today when a flash fire roared through a double two-story tenement on Southend Smith street.

An exploding oil stove that showered the interior with flaming oil started the fire which left 13 persons homeless.

Those who escaped leaped from second-story windows and all received burns, bruises or broken limbs.

Firemen fought the blaze four hours in a 19-degree temperature. All bodies were recovered by 6 a. m.

Eyewitnesses said one man stood frozen with fear in a second-story window. He was enveloped in flames and refused to jump. Another fear-crazed tenant shoved him to the ground.

Two of the victims were suffocated. All victims were on the top floor.

Assistant Superintendent of Hudson Division Takes Stand at Hearing

Sanford H. Keyes, assistant superintendent of the Hudson River Division, New York Central system, testified Wednesday afternoon at an adjourned hearing before Associate Grade Separation Engineer A. H. Williamson of the Public Service Commission, relative to operating income on the West Shore railroad between Weehawken and Albany. The testimony given by Keyes in the present hearing on an application to curtail passenger service, indicated a decline of revenue over the past few years on a passenger mile basis.

Numerous exhibits were offered in the form of tables to indicate the income from passenger service, express and mail services and also income from milk shipments.

During his preliminary examination Keyes testified he had discussed the proposed rearrangement of schedules with other officials of the railroad with the view of reducing operating expenses.

At one point during his examination by County Attorney Frederick Stang, Keyes was asked if the figures produced did not indicate that one of the very trains which it was proposed to drop from the schedule was not one of the best and highest revenue producing trains on the line in point of passenger revenue. He referred to train No. 12, Albany to Weehawken on Saturdays and Sundays which was discontinued on December 5, last.

Keyes said this was indicated by the figures. The figures show the average passenger mile revenue for eleven months of 1948 for this train was $1.20 per mile while the State Department at One Time Put 'No' Sticker on Plan

Washington, March 3 (AP)—Diplomats today assigned the nonstop round-the-world flight of an American bomber a significant and highly dramatic place in the grand strategy of the cold war.

An important fact in terms of international politics is that the State Department had opportunity to block the flight but did not do so. Two and a half years ago a somewhat similar project was vetoed by the diplomats.

Thus the changed attitude may be taken as a measure of the extent to which relations between Russia and the west have gone downhill.

The decline started at the peak of hopes for east-west cooperation in peacemaking. Its present low point is characterized by the belief of the western powers that military readiness to strike back is now an absolute essential of peace.

In this sense the B-50 trip which ended yesterday at Fort Worth provides a single dramatic instance. It shows what the United States and other western powers are trying to accomplish on a broader scale and in a different way through the proposed Atlantic Security Treaty.

Top American officials define the purpose of that treaty as being to confront any potential aggressor—by which they currently mean Russia—with such "overwhelming" force that he would not dare attack.

In the flight of the B-50 bomber the Soviets can now read unprecedented evidence of the range of American strategic air power. They may reason that no single one of their cities, should war ever come, would be safe.

Gen. Curtis E. Lemay, chief of the Strategic Air Command, was asked at Fort Worth whether the round-the-world flight means "you can deliver an A-bomb anywhere in Russia."

He put his answer this way: "Let's say any place that would require an atom bomb."

Chairman Tydings (D.-Md.) of the Senate Armed Services com-

New Yorker Buys 4 Big Day Liners

New York, March 3 (AP)—The familiar white excursion boats of the Hudson River Day Line will ply old routes this summer under a new flag.

Last November Day Line directors decided to liquidate the fleet. Stockholders yesterday approved sale of the line's four big steamers and pier properties at Newburgh and Poughkeepsie.

A. V. Alcott, day line president, announced the stockholders' approval and said the transaction involved some existing mortgages and cash, totalling about $500,000.

He said George Sanders of New York and associates would be the purchasers. Although Sanders

Statement Says Army Responsible

Cost Would Be About $400,000 for Work; Would Follow Marine Recommendations

Hazard Is Cited

Abutment Would Be in Path of Vessels, Report Says

The most recent development toward making the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge a tangible asset came this week in the House of Representatives at Washington.

Congressman Jay LeFevre, of New Paltz, has taken action to have the Department of the Army provide approximately $400,000 to change the channel location at the point of proposed bridge construction.

Congressman LeFevre pointed out in his statement before the Subcommittee on Deficiencies and Army Civil Functions of the House Appropriations Committee that one of the proposed abutments would bring a hazard to shipping in entering the present channel.

Congressman LeFevre's action was outlined in a letter to James F. Loughran, of this city, a member of the New York State Bridge Authority. Interviews with Army engineers were also held by Congressman LeFevre.

In his presentation Congressman LeFevre pointed out that the Army maintains the present channel and thus should provide funds for the necessary changes.

At the hearings in Kingston, held in August, 1948, it was pointed out, Congressman LeFevre said in his report, that the Pilot's Association and the American Merchant Marine Institute "have for many years felt that the main channel should be relocated along the East Shore upstream from the proposed bridge and should be dredged to the full authorized depth." The present channel is 27 feet deep and 300 feet wide.

Congressman LeFevre's statement follows:

Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, the state Legislature of New York last year passed a bill which was approved by the governor to erect a bridge across the Hudson river from Kingston, which is located on the west bank, to Rhinecliff, which is located on the east shore, at a cost of fourteen million dollars. It is my understanding that the site and type of bridge to be constructed meets with the approval of the Department of the Army.

Hearings were held in the city of Kingston in the Ulster County Court House on August 31, 1948, to consider the application for approval by the chief of engineers and the secretary of the army. The results of the hearings prove quite definitely that all navigation interests approve of this bridge.

It is my understanding that it is the responsibility of the Department of the Army to maintain a channel from New York city to Albany 27 feet deep and 300 feet wide. Presently at this location in the river the channel is along the west shore and one of the abutments of the proposed bridge would bring a hazard in entering this present channel. At the hearings in Kingston it was brought out that the Pilot's Association and the American Merchant Marine Institute have for many years felt that the main channel should be relocated along the east shore upstream from the bridge and dredged to the full authorized depth.

From the map I shall exhibit I believe it can readily be seen that this is certainly a more direct route and would result in the least obstruction to navigation. It would allow vessels to pass under the bridge at midstream without having to make any sharp turns in order to go through the entrance to the west channel. Furthermore it is my understanding that along the west shore there are several large brick yards and when barges are there being loaded with brick, large vessels going through the channel must slow down in order to not do any damage.

In looking at a map shown me by Colonel Jewett of the corps of engineers, I believe the present channel along the east shore is plenty deep enough and wide

Hagginbothom Says West End Of Span to Be in Ponckhockie

Poughkeepsie, March 3—Factions concerned about the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge have been unofficially informed that the west approach will be within the city of Kingston.

Queried this week as to the locale of the west-side approach, William K. Hagginbothom, executive secretary of the New York State Bridge Authority, revealed that the preferred site is at Kingston Point, just east of the intersection of Lindsley and Delaware avenues.

Although he based his information on the report of Dr. Davis B. Steinman of New York, consultant to the Bridge Authority, Hagginbothom advised that U. S. Army engineers had not given final approval on the location.

The line across the river with the terminal east of Delaware and Lindsley avenues was labeled Route D by the authority engineer. In his report he said that "Route D is recommended as the preferred location for the proposed bridge, offering the lowest total cost while satisfying the governing objectives."

Asked if there had been any change in the thinking of the Bridge Authority on the proposed location, Hagginbothom said Route D was the preferred location. He said no definite decision could be reached as long as approval of Army engineers was lacking.

Views of the Authority secretary on the proposed bridge location were sought after Senator Hatfield said he did not know just where the west end of the bridge would be located. He suggested that the information be obtained

Bebоppers and Crooners Friday At The Broadway

Two extremes on the musical scales—beboppers and crooners—will take over the stage of the Broadway Theatre on Friday, March 5.

The beboppers will be the self-styled "King" of the new musical fad—"Hot Lips" Page, and his six-man orchestra. He'll headline the professional vaudeville show that will play three performances on Friday and three more on Saturday—and for the bebop fans it will be serious business. For everyone else—those who enjoy music and those who are curious about the new craze—it will mean fun and an unusual experience.

The crooners will be represented by the first group of contestants in the new $1,375 "Mr. Song of 1949" contest, which opens on Friday night. The local contestants—seeking the audience applause that will send them to the finals 12 weeks hence—will go on at 7 p. m., directly preceding the first evening vaudeville show. That portion of the program will be broadcast from the Broadway stage by Kingston station WKNY.

The associated film attraction on Friday and Saturday will be "Jungle Patrol."

"Hot Lips," a hot trumpet man, and his orchestra are fresh from an extended run at the mecca of bebоppery—New York's Metropolitan Bopera House. Page, one of the first band leaders to go in seriously for the new type of race music, will take over the stage for a half-hour concert. It will be the same type of concert he and his band staged at Carnegie Hall, at Town Hall, on the Eddie Condon WPIX show, and the WCBS Jazz Concert show on television—colorful, brassy, noisy, and a lot of fun.

Also on the bill will be another television performer — Ronald Rogers, baritone on the Gloria Swanson daily video show. A young singer, he's equally at ease in the popular as well as the light opera fields, and will sing both types of music.

On the novelty side will be the Latinos—tight rope dancers making their first American appearance with the Walter Reade circuit since their importation from South America last month. A man and a woman, they do their balancing in time with rhumba music, dancing along the silver wire singly and together. Climax to their act will find the man jumping through a hoop held by his partner—while both are on the tight rope.

Will Leave Japan

Fifth Air Force headquarters, Nagoya, Japan—Miss Irene Schuber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Schuber, 52 Boulevard, Kingston, N. Y., will leave Japan in the near future to return to the United States.

Miss Schuber is currently assigned as chief clerk, inspector general section, Fifth Air Force headquarters in Nagoya. The Fifth Air Force, occupation air force of Japan, is the largest command under Far East Air Forces.

Following graduation from Kingston High School in 1941, Miss Schuber was employed as legal clerk-stenographer in the Anti-Trust Department, 301 Broad street, New York. She reported to the Fifth Air Force for duty August 16, 1946, and has served six months in excess of the ordinary tour of duty in Japan.

'Approval' Is Given

Albany, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—The State University Board of Trustees announced today approval "in principle" of plans to establish a two-year community college near Jamestown. The project, subject to further review by the trustees and final approval by the Board of Regents, calls for sponsorship of the college by the city of Jamestown, Chautauqua county or jointly by the two governmental units. Tentative plans call for the opening of the school next fall.

Isle Has Rich Promise

Cockatoo Island, a barren, desolate, little-known spot in the mouth of Yampi Sound, 85 miles north of Derby along the northwest coast of Australia, is about to become the home of one of the Dominion's greatest industries. This little piece of rock, which in wartime housed the crews of Air Force Catalina flying boats, contains in its 500-foot cliffs huge iron-ore deposits and next year the owners will ship the first loads of it to Newcastle, the big smelting works 100 miles north of Sydney. Shipping is made difficult because of the marked tidal difference — there is a 32 foot drop between the tides and vessels can berth only at high tide at the wharf cut from the cliff.

Pete Wouldn't Sleep

New York, March 3 (AP)—"Pete," the dean of the world's hippopotamuses in captivity, gets his first real sleep today since last Friday! "Pete," 45 years old and weighing 4,500 pounds, doesn't like to lie down because it's too hard for him to get up again. So, for years he has slept in a pool at the Bronx Zoo. His heavy meanderings wore the edges of the pool steps round, and he had a fall recently. Workmen started repairing the steps Friday and, with the pool closed to him, "Pete" refused to lie down. He took an occasional few winks standing up, however. The work now is done, and "Pete" can have his liquid mattress again.

Frying Tips

The trick to frying slices of cold corn meal mush is to use a greased skillet and low heat; allow one side to achieve a golden-brown before turning. The mush should have a crisp golden-brown crust.

Milk Squirts

It takes about 350 squirts to make a gallon of milk, according to an Illinois farmer, who estimated his hand milking in a 15-year period at about 37,000,000 squirts.

Morgenthau Heads Jewish Appeal

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., former secretary of the treasury, announced Tuesday his acceptance of the invitation to serve as general chairman of the 1949 campaign of the United Jewish Appeal, which came to him from the leaders of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, the Joint Distribution Committee, the United Palestine Appeal and the United Service for New Americans.

At the same time Mr. Morgenthau announced that he had named Henry Montor to conduct the nationwide campaign under his leadership.

In 1947 and 1948, Morgenthau had served as general chairman of the United Jewish Appeal and the campaign raised the record sum of $270,000,000 during that period. At the end of 1948, he had advised the United Jewish Appeal that he could not continue to head the drive this year.

The announcement of his acceptance brought to a successful conclusion the efforts during the past several months of all Jewish groups to persuade Morgenthau to head the campaign for 1949.

Morgenthau announced his decision following the action of the board of the United Palestine Appeal in endorsing the decisions of the Jewish Agency Executive regarding the conduct of the United Jewish Appeal in 1949.

"Under the terms suggested by the executive of the Jewish Agency and at the invitation of the Joint Distribution Committee, the United Palestine Appeal and the United Service for New Americans, I have agreed to accept the office of general chairman of the United Jewish Appeal of 1949," Mr. Morgenthau announced.

"In accordance with the agreement reached by the beneficiaries of the United Jewish Appeal, I have named Henry Montor to direct the campaign of the United Jewish Appeal."

EXPANDED SOCIAL SECURITY

The long-promised and long-delayed plan to revise and extend the social security program has finally been put into action. The two bills which have been introduced in the House of Representatives embody President Truman's program. But actually the basic idea is not a partisan matter. It was included among the pledges of both major parties in their 1948 platforms.

What this new program actually does is give some meaning to the second word in the phrase, "social security." It removes the occupational penalties that the present law imposes. And it does these things at a bearable cost.

Today a single person or couple over 65 can scarcely hope to get along on old-age insurance benefits alone. The maximum payment is $85 a month, and the beneficiary may earn only $14.99 in addition without losing the benefit. The proposed law would provide this total amount by raising the maximum payment to $150 and permitting $50 a month in earnings. That isn't luxury, but it promises reasonable comfort.

Most retired persons or couples would not get the maximum payment, of course. Yet for those who received that amount or something near it, some dignity and independence would accrue to old age even without other savings. This is not possible under the present social security law except at a drastic reduction in living standards.

While the President's proposal does offer a measure of comfort for some, it is not so lavish a bounty as to eliminate the incentive for private saving. It strikes a balance between the present inadequacy and the element of risk which is necessary to the progress of a dynamic society based on private ownership. It is neither state socialism nor state neglect.

The broadened base of social security in the new bills would end some unjust discrimination. It would restore 2,000,000 persons removed from the social security rolls by the last Congress, and include 20,000,000 others for the first time.

The new eligibles include the self-employed—such as farmers, professional men and proprietors of small businesses—, farm workers, domestics, employes of non-profit organizations, and various federal, state and local government workers not presently covered under a retirement plan.

This would not only correct an inequity. It would also increase the mobility of the country's working force. This is desirable both for the individual and the national economy. A person could then change jobs or go into business for himself without having to consider the possible loss of his past social security payments or the absence of retirement payments in the uncertain future.

Since both parties in Congress seem agreed on the fundamental goals of a new social security law, any drastic change before its passage is unlikely.

THREE SENATORS

The most unpopular suggestion in a long time comes from Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island. He wants each state to have three senators instead of two, saying that the task of answering constituents and carrying out their wishes is too much for the present set-up.

Senators will not like his idea, for it would mean dividing patronage by three instead of two. And most private citizens are firmly convinced that there are at least enough senators as it is.

On the other hand, if there should ever be any reduction in numbers, it might be much more desirable to apply it to the House than to the Senate.

LIBRARY OF SMELLS

Cornell University is collecting smells. The department of psychology is forming a "library of odors", whose units range from watermelon to essence of skunk. In connection with this, there is an "olfactorium" for the study of the collection.

The modern world has made rich additions to the field of smell, such as the aroma of overheated tires, for instance. On the other hand, the choice inventions of perfumers have added new delights for the fastidious nose.

For many persons, certain smells, as of flowers in the family garden, bring back memories of childhood experiences and pleasures. Out of the Cornell experiment may come smell-kits for sale, guaranteed to bring back pleasant recollections. More practical steps will also be to eliminate unpleasant odors.

It seems there are many books based on debunking procedure. We used to think people like to be bunkoed.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

DEPRESSION

Disinflation, the new federal prose term for a depression, is designed to describe an upset in government thinking and planning. Just as Henry Wallace expected a bust immediately after the end of war, and the government devised its policies to meet that bust, only to discover a boom which moved into an inflation, so Mr. Truman's current economic advisers expected a rising inflation for this year and so prepared his essay on the state of the union and his budget message, only to discover a depression.

The very men who have made great political capital by ridiculing such a phrase as "prosperity is just around the corner" are now saying that if everybody will be optimistic, everything will be all right. It is as though economists have turned themselves into psychoanalysts, which maybe they have done, and are substituting for an analysis of facts the atmosphere of "the roses that bloom in the spring, tra-la!"

The facts indicate that a normal and not unhappy event is occuring which might have come earlier but for government intervention, namely, that the backlog of consumer goods orders has been liquidated and the backlog of capital goods orders is in its final stages. This means that the market has changed from a sellers' to a buyers' market and that resistance to spending is setting in. This has been complicated by the President's tax proposals and forces the consumer to postpone buying. One can only pay taxes with cash in hand and if the government wants more, the consumer has less money for purchases.

This combination of an increase in available inventory and fear of increased taxes, plus the fact that we live in a country in which perhaps as high as 40 per cent of all purchases are postponable, creates a drop in prices and increases the value of the dollar. This drop would be deeper except for government farm subsidies and government prospective spending for military expenditures and current spending by dumping surplus goods in Europe and Asia under the Marshall Plan.

The President faces the same dilemma this year as he did in 1945 when, in pursuance of Henry Wallace's statistics, he and the country were violently misled. I listened to Leon Keyserling on the radio recently try to defend the Council of Economic Advisers' errors and he did very badly. I shall refer to his absurdities when I can get the radio script.

In this connection, it is interesting to point to an article in the London "Economist" which deals with the creeping socialism of this administration: ". . . The price system acts not freely, but under controls imposed by business, by labour, by governments, both state and federal. Rent controls are imposed by nation and state. The price of a fur coat in New York includes 20 per cent federal tax and 2 per cent city tax, while if the purchaser goes home with it to Connecticut she may also be liable to a 3 per cent state tax . . . prices on tooth brushes, shaving creams and other trademarked articles may be set by the manufacturer and must be kept by the retailer under penalty of state law. The recent rise in the cost of travel betwen New York and Boston had to be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The use of prefabricated houses to cut building costs has been blocked by the antiquated building codes of many towns."

Apparently the socialistic British have discovered a fellow-feeling in Washington. The "Economist" says of this:

". . . The President's Council of Economic Advisers calls (the American economic system) 'a congery of private and government efforts,' and the phrase is good shorthand for a definition which could not be more precise without also being more clumsy."

Quite so, except that the Britishers might have used a simpler phrase, "mixed up." These government economists seemed to have a happy faculty for figuring wrong, outguessing themselves, and then covering their errors with federal prose which, while being terribly mixed up and clumsy, gives the appearance of precision by the art of saying nothing voluminously. All of which only means that some sort of depression, already involving 3,000,000 unemployed, is here and needs to be covered up for political reasons.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

BLOOD PRESSURE AND THE RICE DIET

Because it is known that the Chinese, as a race, have a lower blood pressure than those in America, it is only natural that it has been thought that it is because rice is their main food.

While food does have something to do with blood pressure, the principal reason for their lower blood pressure is their manner of life. The Chinese are an old race; they are philosophical and do not let the little worries of life get them excited so that the heart beat and blood pressure are raised.

It is known that after Chinese come to America to live, their blood pressure gradually increases. And when citizens of America live in China for a few years, and learn to live the quiet, philosophical life of the Chinese, their blood pressure decreases.

Because it is known that high blood pressure causes heart strokes (coronary thrombosis) and brain strokes (apoplexy), physicians have been investigating the effects of the rice diet on blood pressure. Instead of eating the usual meals of meat and vegetables, patients with high blood pressure have a diet consisting of rice and fruit juices.

It has been found in a closely followed series of cases that all patients put on the rice diet lose weight for the first three weeks, which is about the length of time it takes the body to adjust its water balance. After this first three weeks on the rice diet, little or no further loss of weight occurs.

While depression of spirits occurs during the first few weeks and many patients refuse to continue the diet, if they can be persuaded to persist for some time longer, they lose this depression of spirits and feel better. Once, however, they go off the rice diet, they refuse to go back to it.

While rice and fruit juices undoubtedly help to prevent a rise in blood pressure, the very fact that weight is lost "only for the first three weeks" points to the water held in the blood and tissues by the salt in the food as the real cause of decrease in blood pressure. Rice and fruit juices contain little or no salt.

If, then, those with high blood pressure would cut down on table salt in and on foods and also on salt foods for three weeks, and then have their blood pressure tested, they would know whether or not it would be worthwhile to go on the rice diet.

"Consarn Yuh, Quit That Balkin'!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington—It's funny how, when you make a promise to your wife, something always happens so you can't keep it.

Last week while riding home from California, I made a lot of promises first to myself, and later to the little woman about spending more time at home, seeing more of my family, and taking a good rest on the farm. I had had enough of international good will, I told myself. And after I got caught up with a big pile of mail and wrote letters to the heads of the railroads, and a raft of governors, mayors and other folks who had been extremely nice, I would take Mrs. P. away for the little rest we'd always talked about but somehow never seemed to manage.

So, filled with all these good thoughts, I got home and began to put them into operation right away. Mrs. P. looked dubious at first, but then she almost began to believe me. For I did a very revolutionary thing. I turned off the telephone.

Mrs. P. has always talked about what would happen if I turned off the phone—her idea being that nothing would happen at all. The world, she said, would go on just as usual, and nobody would miss me, nor I them.

So I told her I was going to settle down for a nice long evening with her, wasn't ever going to look at my desk, and just to show that I really mean business, I turned off the phone.

Of course, I didn't turn off the phone in the kitchen—and I'm not quite sure whether this was by accident or by design. With the phone turned off upstairs, you can still barely hear the phone in the kitchen, but since it sounds faint and far away I am a little braver about not answering it.

Harry Truman Speaks

Well, anyway, having turned off the phone, I began to tell Mrs. P. how I had reformed, wasn't going to work so hard and how we would go away for a little trip. We even began to figure out where we were going.

Everything was lovely, and we had one solid uninterrupted hour together, when suddenly the telephone in the kitchen began to ring. I was very brave. I ignored it. It rang and rang, but it didn't faze me at all. I just pretended not to hear.

Finally the phone stopped, but about 30 minutes later it rang again. Though it was way off in the kitchen, nevertheless it had a certain air of persistency. Finally I could resist no longer. I picked up the receiver.

The United Press was calling to tell me that President Truman had sounded off at a dinner at the Reserve Officers' Association, calling me an s.o.b. They wanted my comment.

I told them I was spending a quiet evening with my wife, and that if Harry Truman wanted to spend his evenings away from his wife making speeches about other people that was his privilege. I didn't see why I should comment.

But, said the United Press, other speakers at the dinner specifically mentioned you and the President's remarks definitely were directed at you.

So, in a weak moment, I commented:

The Telephone Continues

Then I remembered that other long, persistent telephone ring; so since the fat was in the fire, I called up the Associated Press. "We've just been trying to get you," they said, "but you were out."

"Oh," I replied.

Since I'm supposed to be a tough, thick-skinned newspaperman, I didn't tell them that I was sitting at home listening to their ring and trying to be brave enough not to answer it.

After that the phone just kept on ringing, and has kept on ringing every day since. I haven't written all those letters thanking the folks who were nice to me, and I haven't taken the vacation with Mrs. P. In fact, I'm a little surprised that she's still speaking to me.

"Of course," I was mean enough to tell her, "it's all your fault. You elected him. You were the one who was rooting for him. And if he disrupts our evening and our vacation, then it's your fault, not mine. After all, you were the one who put him in the White House."

Mr. Truman's Lemon

When I was a youngster I had a prof named Edwin Tomlinson who used to hand out a lot of advice which I didn't pay much attention to then, but which has proved valuable since. One thing he advised was: "If someone hands you a lemon, make it into lemonade."

That's what I'd like to do with the lemon President Truman handed me the other night. I don't see any reason why the initials "S.O.B." should necessarily stand for what Mr. Truman meant them to mean. The meaning of any word is what's in people's minds. Some English words are fighting terms in England though they have an innocent meaning here. When I was in Australia some years ago I was shocked to hear an Australian girl use a word which never would be tolerated in polite society here. But it meant nothing there.

So words and their abbreviations are all a matter of education, custom and general usage. And I am sure Mr. Truman is a good enough sport to join me in putting a new interpretation on the initials "S.O.B."—which can much better mean "Servants of Brotherhood."

When Harry Truman was a farm boy driving mules in Missouri, I don't doubt that he needed some pretty strong language. I have never driven mules in Missouri, but I had 100 Missouri mules and 100 Albanian mule-drivers under my command in Yugoslavia once; and since the Albanians couldn't understand Missourian and the mules couldn't understand Albanian, and since the Serbian corporal couldn't understand either, I had to act as interpreter.

So, along with Harry Truman, I am familiar with mule-drivers' language.

However, neither Harry nor I are mule-drivers any more. We have graduated, I hope, to bigger and better things. Therefore, I am getting up an engraved "Servants Of Brotherhood" membership certificate, and perhaps some other folks will join me in picking out people in their neighborhood or anyplace else who have really sacrificed for their fellow men.

There are all sorts of people in this country who are working hard at democracy, and at being good neighbors and at doing things for others—not necessarily big shots, just ordinary folks. I'd like to write about some of them, tell what they're doing, and spread the word about the Servants of Brotherhood.

Supreme Court Ruling on Strikes and State Actions Is Viewed as Important Point

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 3—When the Supreme Court of the United States makes a ruling on how far the right to strike can be used by unions and to what extent the several states have retained their rights to police labor-management disputes notwithstanding the exercise of federal power in the Wagner Act and the Taft-Hartley law, the decision can be described as a milestone in constitutional law.

The case under consideration arose in Wisconsin in 1946—while the Wagner Act was in force and before the Taft-Hartley Act was passed. An auto workers union engaged in intermittent work stoppages by calling repeated special meetings of the union during working hours without warning to the employer or notice as to when or whether the employes would return to work. Such meetings were called on 26 separate occasions in a period of four successive months.

This procedure was publicly described by the union leaders as "a new technique for bringing pressure upon the employer."

Chief Justice Vinson, Justices Reed, Burton, Frankfurter and Jackson denounced this device as coercive and within the power of any state to forbid by law. Justices Black, Murphy, Rutledge and Douglas upheld the method as coming within the right to strike as protected by federal law and not subject to state interference.

The majority apparently believe with Justice Brandeis, the famous Liberal jurist, that "neither the common law, nor the Fourteenth Amendment, confers the absolute right to strike." The majority opinion written by Justice Jackson says:

"The right to strike, because of its more serious impact upon the public interest, is more vulnerable to regulation than the right to organize and select representatives for lawful purposes of collective bargaining which this court has characterized as a 'fundamental right' and which, as the court has pointed out, was recognized as such in its decisions long before it was given protection by the Wagner Act."

The majority opinion further declares that the right to strike plainly contemplates a lawful method and does not operate to legalize the sit-down strike, which state law made illegal and state authorities punished. Justice Jackson adds:

"If we were . . . to make the strike an absolute right and the definition to extend the right to all other variations of the strike, the effect would be to legalize beyond the power of any state or federal authorities to control not only the intermittent stoppages such as we have here but also the slowdown and perhaps the sit-down strike as well . . .

"We think that this recurrent or intermittent unannounced stoppage of work to win unstated ends was neither forbidden by federal statute nor was it legalized and approved thereby. Such being the case, the state police power was not superseded by congressional act over a subject normally within its exclusive power and reachable by federal regulation only because of its effects on that interstate commerce which Congress may regulate."

Here is the first explicit limit declared in many years with respect to the powers of Congress over acts growing out of labor disputes. Here is a hint that "effects on interstate commerce" will yet have to be proved to establish unlimited power by the federal government over labor-management relations and that, as regards conduct approaching coercion or violence or damage to property, the power of the states to police their own affairs has by no means been destroyed even by the New Deal court.

One minority opinion was written by Justice Douglas and concurred in by Justices Black and Rutledge. Justice Douglas surprised the country by making a quasi-political speech recently before the annual C.I.O. national convention. Another minority opinion was written by Justice Murphy, under whom, as governor of Michigan, sit-down strikes were permitted. Justice Murphy says:

"But the court, by its reasoning and its quotation from a congressional report, now makes intermittent work stoppages the equivalent of mutiny, contract-breaking and the sit-down strike. It stretches the 'objectives and means' test to include a form of pressure which is peaceful and direct . . . to impute this rationale to the Congress which enacted the Wagner Act is, in my opinion, judicial legislation of an extreme form."

Thus do four justices turn the clock back to the days of sit-down strikes and wildcat strikes and encourage unions to believe these are all lawful parts of the "right to strike."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Naturally, a conscientious American is pleased by each gain against those whom we carelessly call the Communists in our midst. Few of these people are actually Communists, for even the Russian government and the Communist Party, its American outpost, practice and promote a system which is far from their professed plan. However, we know what we mean by Communists. We mean the men who are the Russian government and its system of satellites. And, here at home, we mean the traitors who are loyal to Soviet Russia and therefore enemies of our own government, our nation and our people. They are concentrated in three geographical areas, New York and vicinity, Washington and Hollywood and vicinity.

Most of these traitors are listed in the reports of the Dies and Thomas Committees. The Washington traitors actually were drawn from everywhere and were cordially welcomed by the Roosevelt government. They certainly were not opposed socially or politically by his wife, although she vigorously opposed certain anti-Communists. I am not convinced that she is or ever has been a Communist and I incline to the belief that she is just a vain, selfish and cunning woman with ambitions for power who came of a very bad family and never could rise above the morally sordid and squalid influences of her childhood.

The Truman government quickly got rid of some of the traitors within the government itself but lacked the courage to throw out the worst. President Truman found himself in a political fix and actually bidding for the Communist vote in New York, and even found Governor Thomas E. Dewey bidding against him for that same vote. The great volume of this vote that finally went to Henry Wallace in New York sustains my contention that New York is the great center of treachery, sedition and treason because Wallace had the support of the outright Communists. In case of war with Russia we would have a terrible time in New York. No more fastidious nonsense about "civil liberties" then.

The gains that I referred to against the Communists have been made in the center of government in Washington and in the unions of the C.I.O. there have been no gains in New York. The Communists there are stronger every day. Unfortunately it is impossible for any honest man to thank either President Truman for the gains in Washington or Philip Murray, the president of the C.I.O., for the gains in the C.I.O.

The President turned against the Committee on Un-American Activities, which had dug up practically all of the veritable library of proof against both Communists

Questions-Answers

Q—What is the largest species of deer?

A—The American moose is the giant among deer. A full-grown moose attains the height of six to seven feet at the shoulders, and the weight of the male often exceeds 1000 pounds.

Q—How long has it been since there was a Jewish state in Palestine?

A—Israel, the newly established Jewish state, is the first one in the Holy Land since the Romans destroyed Jerusalem in 70 A. D.

Q—Is the American hemlock tree poisonous?

A—So far as known no part of the American hemlock tree is poisonous and there is probably no basis for reports of persons becoming poisoned as a result of mistaking the hemlock tree for slippery elm and chewing or eating it.

Ford Asks Early Contract Talks

Detroit, March 3 (AP)—The Ford Motor Co., commenting on economic conditions, asked the C.I.O. United Auto Workers today for early informal contract talks.

Ford, in a letter to the union, indicated it questioned the advisability of the U.A.W.'s proposal for $100 monthly pensions for 106,000 Ford workers.

Pensions, Ford said, either must be paid for through a wage reduction or higher car prices.

On the specific subject of a fourth-round wage increase, Ford spoke only in general terms.

However, the company remarked of an "increasing tendency" of both management and labor to regard another general wage increase as "contrary to the best interests of both."

Ford said the nation was now "well into" an economic period "unlike any we have experienced since the war" and added:

"Most of the post-war consumer demand for things in short supply has been mopped up. Most American producers are no longer in a seller's market."

Today's "primary problem," Ford said, is "one of sales and steady jobs."

Pensions are the No. 1 goal of the auto workers union in 1949 although a pay increase also will be sought.

Ford raised a question whether its workers would be willing to take a wage cut in order to finance pensions and said there was "only one other way"—higher car prices to customers.

"But we are convinced that too many of them would not stand for this," the company said.

The letter to the union was signed by John S. Bugas, Ford vice president in charge of industrial relations, and copies were sent to all employes represented by the U.A.W.

A union reply was not immediately available.

Ford asked the union for a meeting "to explore informally some of the basic factors that will affect the negotiations."

The Ford-U.A.W. contract expires July 15. Under its 60-day reopening, negotiations could be expected to be instituted in mid-May.

Bugas, in his letter, also mentioned what he called the "declining" cost of living's effect on "real wages" and pointed to General Motors' current two cents an hour contractual wage cut.

Without going into detail, he said G.M.'s cut has placed Ford at a $5,000,000 annual wage "handicap."

and their accomplices. He used the political power of his office to discredit the information and destroy the committee itself and yet, day by day, all this while, he has found himself drifting closer to a war with the hostile power which the committee was exposing.

Murray's conduct has been more consistent from a certain point forward. He consorted and cooperated with Communists and their political tools in the C.I.O. for years and came to a stand against them only after he had been guilty of terrible collaboration. It is true that he and a few other C.I.O. bosses broke the power of the Communists in certain unions. But it is also true that, in the first place, they helped those Communists to reach those positions of power.

Murray deserves no credit. He was a mature man and knew what he was doing when he played with the Communists and permitted better men to be abused by the C.I.O. for crying out against them. He could have been a valuable citizen. But you don't salute and reward a man for undoing harm that he has helped to do or guiltily suffered to be done by others. You say it was little enough for him to do.

There has been absolutely no change of heart or politics in Hollywood. The moving picture industry is still the great source of prestige and money for the Communists of the United States and anyone who tells you otherwise is, to say the best of him, mistaken. Not one Communist actor or writer, director or producer has been dropped except that a test was made in one case but only as a false gesture, not as a reform. The Committee on Un-American Activities named only a handful of the most defiant Communists but it had proof against others, most of them in the high brackets. And the moving picture industry knows the names of all of them. But they are not fired or exposed and the pretense of an excuse is that they could sue for damages for discrimination and defamation. That is nonsense. Hollywood discriminates all the time. It discriminates in favor of New Dealers against Republicans, in favor of sisters, in-laws, cousins and aunts as against non-relatives.

There is constant talk and great fear of war and the people of the United States unwillingly are rushing toward bankruptcy merely to guard against a threat of war which is presented by Russia and by the Communists of New York, Washington and Hollywood. When we see planes flashing dangerously across the sky and at evening on the streets see young American men walking aimlessly in uniform, do we realize that the only reason for this is that Russia threatens us with war with the constant help of the Communists and the fellow-travelers?

The list of the Hollywood Communists and fellow travelers is published in the records of Congress and could be circulated in every home in the United States for the only kind of social action that Hollywood understands, the boycott.

Proclamation

Hadassah Day

I, Oscar V. Newkirk, mayor of the City of Kingston, do hereby proclaim Tuesday, March 8, to be Hadassah Day in the City of Kingston.

Hadassah, the Woman's Zionist Organization, has for many years done outstanding health work and aided in the betterment of the physical and spiritual lot of the many refugees who have come to the Holy Land. Its chief activity has probably been to bring thousands of homeless children from stricken Europe to the old-new land of Israel. It is now engaged in aiding the settlement of the last 25,000 Jewish DP's in Europe to be absorbed in Israel.

I would like to add my support, as the city's mayor, to the work of this worthy organization, and gladly announce this proclamation.

Witness my hand on this second day of March, 1949, in the City of Kingston.

OSCAR V. NEWKIRK,
Mayor.

Turkey Wants to Sell

Observers in Istanbul commented recently on the fact that Turkey, having originally received tobacco from the West, now is trying to send an increasing supply of it back. Tobacco growers there have sent a delegation to England, asking that more Turkish tobacco be included in British mixtures. Originally, when British sailors of the Tudor and Stuart days, smoking their pipes around the world, introduced the plant from Virginia into Turkey, it resisted. Mohammed, the prophet, was said to have predicted that one day "unbelievers" would smoke something called tobacco. Murad, the Fourth strictly forbade its use, under pain of terrible punishment—but Turkey continued to grow it and now has a surplus.

Spellman Crosses Diggers' Pickets at Head of 100 Aides

New York, March 3 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman led 100 seminarians and priests peacefully through picket lines today to bury dead at strike-bound Calvary Cemetery.

The unsmiling Cardinal, dressed in street clothes, sat in the front seat of one of three buses that took the group past the silent pickets into the cemetery—largest Roman Catholic burial ground in the metropolis.

The priests and students from St. Joseph's Seminary in Yonkers, N. Y., immediately were divided into 10 groups of 10 men each and set to work to dig graves for about 600 bodies that have been left unburied in the seven-week strike.

The digging proceeded slowly in the snow-crusted, frozen ground. It was a raw, windy day.

The Cardinal, who has denounced the union leading the walkout as "Communist-dominated," said on his arrival that "I hoped we'd never have to do it but we'll remain here until our task is done."

Cemetery officials would not estimate how long it would take to dig all of the 600 graves.

Will Work Daily

However, the Cardinal said the 100 volunteers would come back every day until the backlog was cleared up and then would keep up with current burials.

Cardinal Spellman did not assist with the digging himself. He helped in allotting the work, however, and said he would remain at the cemetery all day.

The pickets made no effort to interfere with the volunteer gravediggers but several made bitter comments about the cardinal and his helpers. One tipped his hat as the buses drove past him.

Ed Ruggieri, chairman of the union's negotiating committee, termed the priests and seminarians "strikebreakers."

'Unfair to Catholics'

"We think he (Cardinal Spellman) is being unfair to Catholic people and the people who support the seminarians," the union official said. "The seminarians are taking bread and butter out of our mouths."

Ruggieri said the 300 strikers, members of the C.I.O. United Cemetery Workers, all are Catholics. He said the number of pickets had not been increased and that no demonstration would be made against the Cardinal.

The strikers want a five-day week at the same $59.40 pay they now get for six days.

mittee commented solemnly: "This flight offers some measure of what another world war would mean to all peoples."

However, the Air Force was meticulous in laying out its flight plan for the B-50. It made sure that at no point did the route approach either Russia or Soviet-held areas.

The nearest the B-50 came to Russia was hundreds of miles to the south, when the bomber flew over the subcontinent of India.

Assuming that the Atlantic Treaty project goes through the Russians will have further evidence that America's striking power could be provoked into action not alone by an attack on the United States. It could be set off by an attack on any of the other countries in the North Atlantic Alliance.

So far as the State Department is concerned, the flight apparently was not made primarily as a sabre rattling gesture—whatever meaning other countries may attach to it. It seems to have been conceived as an effort by the Air Force—perhaps with an eye on congressional appropriations—to prove that such a thing could be done.

But officials confirmed today that the proposal was put before the State Department and it was cleared there.

In the summer of 1946 an earlier proposal was publicly announced by the Air Forces for a round-the-world flight. The United States then was negotiating with Russia and other nations in the Paris peace conference.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes at the Paris meeting and Under Secretary Dean Acheson—now secretary—in Washington felt it was a bad time to do anything that might rock the diplomatic boat.

Now, the lack of diplomatic objections provides an index to the way top officials feel these days about the problems and prospects in getting along with the Russians.

could not be reached, Alcott said he understood the new owners planned to operate the vessels between New York, Bear Mountain, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie.

Sanders is former president of the Sutton line, which operates a river boat between New York and Bear Mountain. His associates were not named.

In selling its vessels and the two piers, Hudson River Day Line retained ownership of other properties.

Alcott said the day line would retain its Indian Point Park and Kingston Point Park properties, its coal dock at Newburgh, its piers at Catskill and Hudson and its ticket office at Albany.

The steamers involved in the sale are the Hendrick Hudson, Robert Fulton, Alexander Hamilton and Peter Stuyvesant.

Indians were the first to use the toboggan, whose name is a corruption of the Algonquin word odabaggan.

THE GREAT BULL MARKETS

I'm Mrs. Progressive Housewife . . .

I keep up with the latest in cookery. I read The Freeman household hints as well as several women's magazines. I try out new recipes and ideas without forgetting the tried and true foods. I like to dress up my menus and keep them free from monotony.

I want a store where I can get the nationally advertised brands. I want a store where I can get the fixings for different dishes I hear about. I want helpful items for Lenten meals.

THAT'S WHY I'VE TRADED AT THE BULL MARKET ALL THESE YEARS ! !

Point Plan To Be Voted In Autumn

Albany, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—New York state voters will decide next November whether they want a new point system of veterans' civil service preference.

The Legislature approved the Mitchell amendment for the necessary second time yesterday. It also passed the 1948 Legislature.

The measure, sponsored by Republican Senator MacNeil Mitchell of Manhattan, would give disabled veterans 10 points on examinations for appointments or five points for promotions. It would give non-disabled veterans five points or two and one-half points. The credits could be used only once, either for appointment or promotion.

Final approval of a concurrent resolution supporting the measure was reached by a 124 to 15 vote in the Assembly only after G.O.P. Assemblyman Malcom Wilson of Yonkers had led a two-hour debate against it.

Thirteen other Republicans and Democrats Assemblyman Bernard Austin of Brooklyn voted against the proposal.

The Assembly action climaxed a contest in the Legislature between the Mitchell measure and another sponsored by G.O.P. Senator William F. Condon of Yonkers.

The Condon measure, still locked in committee's of both Houses, also was approved last year. It would extend the present absolute preference given to disabled veterans.

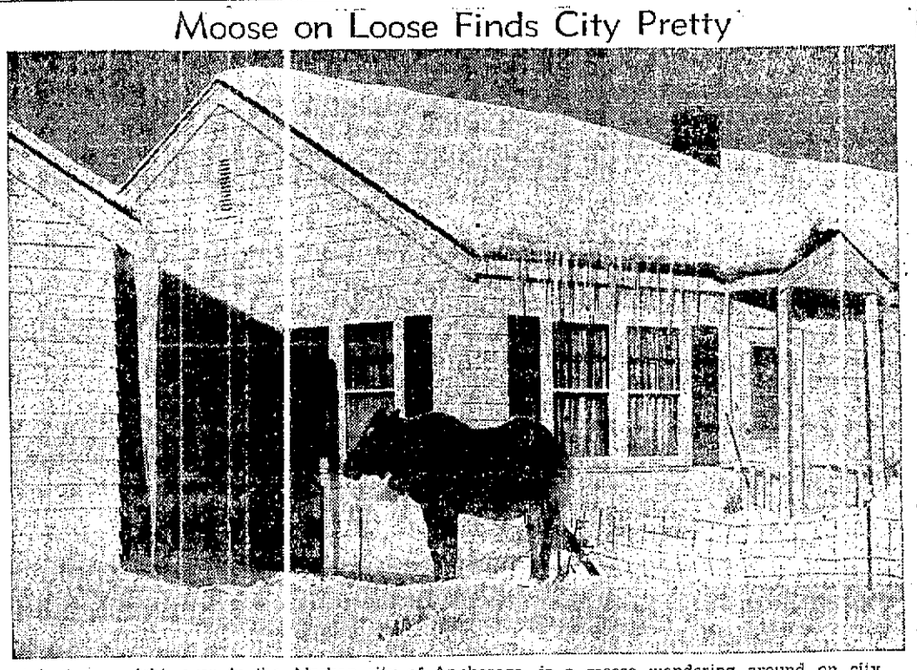
Many veterans' organizations have backed the Condon proposal.

The present absolute preference system, scheduled to expire next year, puts disabled veterans at the top of state and local civil service lists if they receive a minimum passing mark. Non-disabled veterans come next.

During the debate, Wilson called for continuation of absolute preference. He urged that the subject be investigated for a year by a legislative committee.

Backers of the measure argued that absolute preference cut down governmental efficiency.

Moose on Loose Finds City Pretty



A strange sight, even in the Alaskan city of Anchorage, is a moose wandering around on city streets. This venturesome animal caused much commotion in Anchorage, and townspeople tried to get him out of town with snowballs and lighted flares. But he liked it and wouldn't budge. Later, police shot him, claiming he unged at children. (Photo by NEA-Acme photographer Dick Chace.)

Mishaps Haunt Council

Hurrying in to a meeting of the Accident Prevention Council in Edinburgh, Scotland, the secretary, Colonel V. M. Price, grasped the back of an empty chair, in the dark, and pulled it toward him. He did not know that J. F. Brodie, the city lighting deputy engineer, was about to sit on the chair. Brodie missed it and fell under a table, seriously injuring himself. This was the third accident story for the council in recent weeks.

and had guaranteed payment in full on all outstanding bonds.

A long period of financial distress had reached far down into the carrier's operations. Trains frequently were late, schedules went awry and harder-than-ordinary storms so disrupted its workings that passenger agitation reached a crescendo in recent years.

In an effort to restore financial and operating normalcy, the Pennsylvania shifted one of its crack railroaders, David E. Smucker, over to the Long Island last year as general manager. The road was too far in debt, however, to respond over a short term and yesterday's bankruptcy resulted.

One of the country's biggest commuter carriers, the Long Island hauls 300,000 passengers between suburban Long Island points and New York city every day over its 376 miles of lines.

The Pennsylvania railroad said in a statement that the Long Island "has been able to survive up to now only because of long continued and substantial financial help provided by "the parent company. The Long Island's debt to the Pennsylvania and its subsidiaries was about $55,000,000, the statement said.

Despite many years of financial shakiness, the blow that finally crushed the Long Island was the Pennsylvania's refusal last Friday to honor any longer the Long Island's current bills.

The Pennsylvania, which purchased a majority interest in the smaller road in 1901, said that since then it had invested $105,000,000 to pay the Long Island's losses and meet its obligations.

In only seven of the past 48 years did the Pennsylvania collect dividends on its capital stock holdings in the Long Island.

King Has a Peep

Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret are much pleased at their latest victory over Palace tradition, Londoners say. At their suggestion the King and Queen recently went to the Palace to hear Danny Kaye, American comedian. Never before have the Sovereign and his Consort been to an ordinary variety show at a music hall, except the annual Royal Command show, which was quite different. When the Royal party arrived, one of the supporting acts was on stage and the manager suggested they wait outside. When The King, asked why, he was told the act was "a little rough"—not just what the King was accustomed to. He smiled and asked: "Can I have a peep?" He did, too.

Jersey Drafts Bill

Trenton, N. J., March 3 (AP)—A bill designed to ban Communists from public employment in New Jersey was being drafted today by House Speaker Hugh L. Mehorter (R-Gloucester) and Assemblyman T. James Tumulty (D-Hudson). Mehorter said yesterday he was joining with a Democrat with whom he has frequently clashed to demonstrate the bi-partisan nature of the anti-Communist bill. He added he has not yet consulted governor Driscoll on the measure.

Rosendale, March 3—Miss Elizabeth Schoonmaker of the Ulster County Visiting Nurses' Association spends an hour or so each day, Monday through Friday, at the fire hall in Rosendale, making out her reports and planning her calls in this area. Anyone desiring the services of Miss Schoonmaker, should make arrangements through the family physician. Calls for Miss Schoonmaker will be accepted at Vaughn's drug store in Rosendale.

Rosendale Personals

Rosendale, March — Mr. and Mrs. Edward Demarest of Rosendale spent last week-end at the Commodore in New York, and attended performances of two hit shows "Life With Mother" and "Where's Charlie."

Mrs. Edward Huben, Mrs. John McEvoy, Miss Minnie Harkins and Mrs. Edward McCaffrey gathered at the home of Miss Florence Buckley, James street, Rosendale, last Thursday evening for the purpose of sewing articles in preparation for the St. Peter's annual summer bazaar. They plan to continue these get-togethers on subsequent Thursday evenings. Any of the ladies of the community wishing to participate in this endeavor will be welcome to join the group at any time. Further information may be obtained by contacting Miss Florence Buckley.

Mrs. William Meier, Main street, Rosendale, who has been seriously ill at her home for the past several weeks has shown marked improvement. Her many friends in the community will be happy to know that she has made such a remarkable recovery.

Sister Dorothea, instructress at St. Peter's School in Rosendale, fell and broke her arm recently. She has, however, been able to resume her teaching duties.

Mrs. Clyde Lewis is substitute teacher this week for Miss Norma Conklin, principal of the Union Free School, who is ill at her home.

Miss Marjorie Osmers, a junior at Keuka College, spent the last week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Osmers, Springtown Road. A speech and dramatics major, along with two other of her classmates, she is busily preparing for the production of three plays to be presented at the college this week-end. Miss Osmers' participation is in the capacity as stage manager.

Alliance Gospel Church To Have Special Program

A special program of religious and entertaining nature is scheduled for Tuesday, March 8, at 7:45 p. m. in Alliance Gospel Church, corner of Franklin and Pine streets, featuring musical and vocal selections, also a chalk talk.

Taking part in the program will be the Rev. and Mrs. Hazen J. Brittin of Colonie; his brother, Paul Brittin of Albany and the Rev. Sidney Harris of Poughkeepsie.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the event which will be free except for a free-will offering to defray expenses of the group.

Lay Chairmen For Catholic Charities Drive

Parish lay chairmen for Ulster county and the parishes they will organize in the 1949 fund appeal of New York Catholic Charities are listed below.

Msgr. C. J. Weldon, director of the appeal, announces that the goal is $2,500,000 and the minimum standard of giving set at a day's wage from every working person. Last year contributions totaling $2,026,523 were made to the appeal by 352,867 people.

In 1948, according to the annual report, the 186 agencies and institutions of Catholic Charities reached a total of 399,981 men, women and children.

The lay leaders are as follows:

Leo Parks for St. John the Evangelist and Charles H. Granwehr for St. Mary, both of Saugerties; John Nalepa for St. Colman, East Kingston; Peter Otens for St. Andrew and James Morrow for St. Mary, both in Ellenville; Frank Campochiaro for St. Joseph, Glasco.

Matthew Jordan for Holy Name of Jesus, Francis Zakseski for Immaculate Conception, Miss Teresa Brophy for St. Joseph, William C. Hussey for St. Mary, Kenneth Geary for St. Peter, all in Kingston.

Andrew J. Berkery for St. Mary, Marlborough, Frank Mandi and James Conklin for St. James, Milton; Raymond Morris and Albert Moran for St. Joseph, New Paltz; Richard Donnelly for Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Port Ewen; Joseph O'Connor of St. Peter, Rosendale; Joseph Leahy and Francis Young for St. Ann, Sawkill; J. Frank Lynch for St. John, West Hurley.

NEW HURLEY

New Hurley, March 2—Women of New Hurley are invited to meet with the Wallkill women at the Wallkill Reformed Church Friday at 8 p. m. to observe the World's Day of Prayer. The Rev. Cornelius Meyer of the Shawangunk Reformed Church will be the speaker.

The Young Women's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles White in Wallkill Saturday afternoon, March 5. Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker will act as the assistant hostess.

President G. T. Vander Lugt of Central College will conduct the Church of the Air program on the Columbia Broadcasting system next Sunday, March 6, from 10 to 10:30 a. m. The college a cappella choir also will be heard on the program.

Next Sunday morning, March 6, during the Sunday school hour a communicants class will be held for young people desiring to unite with the church at Easter time. The class will be held in the parsonage.

The first Union Lenten service will be held Sunday at the Reformed Church of Montgomery at 8 p. m. The Rev. Luman Shaffer, D.D., and executive secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, will be the speaker.

The March meeting of the Missionary Society will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Jenkins Thursday, March 10. It will be an all-day sewing meeting with a pot-luck lunch at noon. All are asked to bring old linens for making bandages.

Nicholas T. Cocks spent the week-end visiting his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Grill and his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cocks in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Birch and daughter of Wilmington, Del., spent the week-end with their grandmother and aunt, Mrs. M. L. Birch and Mrs. William Tear.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powell and Miss Bertha Sutton called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Wright Gardiner Sunday evening.

Arthur VanArendonk of Indianapolis was a recent visitor at the home of his mother and sister, Mrs. Mary VanArendonk and Miss Jeanette VanArendonk in New Paltz. He is the son of the late Rev. Arthur VanArendonk, a former pastor of the New Hurley Reformed Church.

Pope Has 10th Anniversary

Vatican City, March 3 (AP)—Pope Pius XII observed the tenth anniversary of his elevation to the throne of St. Peter yesterday without any special ceremony. The anniversary, which also was the Pontiff's 73rd birthday, was spent in the usual arduous routine of the papacy, including a long list of audiences.

Free Can't Teach

Chicago, March 2 (AP)—By court order, Duane Free, 36-year-old printer, is enjoined from teaching atheism to his daughter and step-daughter. The injunction was issued by Superior Court Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday after Mrs. Esther Free, 34, filed a suit for divorce against her estranged husband. She charged cruelty. Mrs. Free said that during a recent visit to the children Free told them "the story of Christ is a myth," and that "there is no God." The Frees were married December 13, 1940, and separated last January 17. They have a daughter, Margaret, 7. Mrs. Free's daughter by a previous marriage is Nanette Garstad, 11.

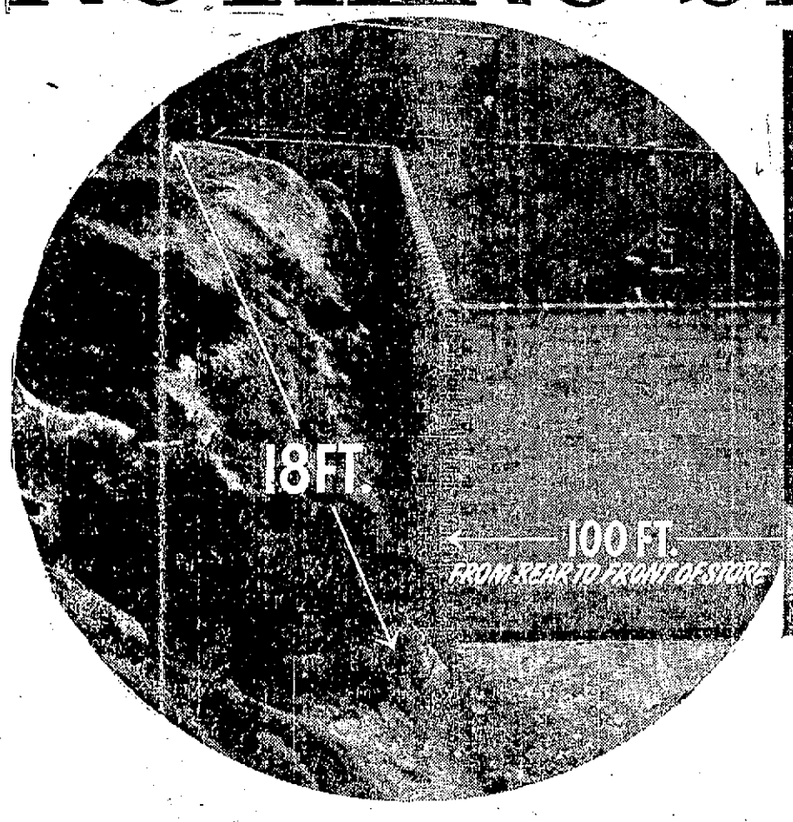
Katydid Did

A katydid, hitched to a paper sled, was able to pull a load consisting of 12 sheets of paper, two steel pens, a large screw, a two-ounce stone, and three and one-half lead pencils, but it moistened its feet in its mouth to get better traction.

NOTHING STOPS GRAND UNION



NOTHING STOPS GRAND UNION

In 1626 Manhattan was purchased from the Indians. One spot remained vacant for over 323 years. During all these years buildings were constructed all over New York City but this spot was left untouched. The solid rock formation rising high above the sidewalk level discouraged building on this site. In order to bring a Grand Union Super Market to the housewives of the Marble Hill section, over 26,000 cubic feet of rock were blasted out. NOTHING STOPS GRAND UNION.

BROADWAY'S NEWEST SMASH HIT

The New Grand Union Super Market—5555 Broadway (At 231st Street) New York City

This is the second super modern, all-in-one Grand Union Super Market to be presented to the residents of Upper New York City in seven months. It is equipped with the now famous "speed shopping" conveniences — the Food-O-Mat — the Meateria, 100% self-service meat department — express checkout booth and many other shopping facilities. This market also features toiletries, housewares, candies, as well as the complete line of food and household products that make it possible for the housewife to buy all of her needs conveniently, pleasantly and economically under one roof.

JOIN THE GRAND PARADE TO GRAND UNION

On Wednesday, March 2nd a shiny new super market joined the ever-growing Grand Union family. Located at 5555 Broadway (at 231st Street), New York City, this sparkling new market is fully equipped with all the newest installations to make food shopping pleasanter, easier, speedier, and more economical.

THE FOOD-O-MAT

In this streamlined, uncluttered, shiny-clean market, as well as many other Grand Union markets in the metropolitan area, harried housewives can shop with ease at the Food-O-Mat. Over 1800 canned, packaged and glass goods can be selected at the Food-O-Mat quickly and easily. Housewives are assured of fresh merchandise at all times — the first package in is the first package out.

THE MEATERIA

The Meateria offers every kind and cut of Grand Union "AA" Quality "Tailor-Made" meats, prepackaged in transparent wrappings, plainly priced — all ready to "pick up and go." No waiting in line for a number or butcher to serve you. It's completely self-service.

EVERYTHING UNDER ONE ROOF

In this new market you can buy all your food and household needs under one roof — fresh fruits and vegetables, dairy foods, frozen fish, frozen foods and ice cream, baked goods, toiletries and household products.

Students to Study Kingston Housing

Members of the senior sociology class at New Paltz State Teachers College will conduct a housing survey in Kingston on March 10 in cooperation with the New York State Housing Authority, Arthur Davis, Kingston attorney and agent for the government housing agency, will direct the work.

Thirty-two students will participate in the house-to-house survey, collecting data regarding living conditions of three hundred families in the East Kingston area. Arrangements for participation in the survey were made by Dr. Charles Huntington, professor of social science, who teaches sociology at State Teachers College.

Limited Hearing

Ordinary conversation may never be heard by canaries because their hearing is limited to a narrow frequency band, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Honor Actress

Honored as the best religious actress of the year is Virginia Wave, for her performance as Concordia in "Simon Peter, Fisherman." Miss Wave holds her trophy, presented to her in Beverly Hills, Calif., by the American Association of Religious Film Distributors.

Dewey Will Hear Clemency Pleas

Albany, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—Governor Dewey will hear pleas for clemency March 16 in the cases of the three men sentenced to die for the 1947 slaying of boss stevedore Anthony Hintz in New York city.

The men, John M. Dunn, 36, and Daniel Gentile, 40, both of Queens and Andrew Sheridan, 56, of Jersey City, N. J., are scheduled to die April 14 in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison.

Sheridan was to die March 10, but was granted a five-week respite by Dewey yesterday when he set the clemency hearing.

Dunn and Gentile were denied a new trial last Thursday by the Court of Appeals. They had asked for a retrial after Sheridan claimed in a statement from the death house that they were innocent.

Sheridan said that two other men, one dead and the other missing, had helped him kill Hintz Jan. 8, 1947, in a dispute over control of a stevedores' hiring hall.

The three were convicted in General Sessions Court, New York city on Dec. 31, 1947, and the Court of Appeals upheld the convictions last July 16.

They originally were scheduled to die last Aug. 23, but Dewey granted each of them several respites pending final determination of their appeals.

Sheep-Killers Slain

The biggest leopard hunt in recent years in the Cape Midlands of South Africa was reported from Graaff-Reinet. Thirty farmers, all first-class shots, and 150 laborers who acted as beaters, ended the careers of four lopards which had killed 200 sheep in the last year. The hunt involved a 20-mile sweep into the mountains. Crows, which peck out the eyes of lambs, and baboons, have also been causing trouble and both now have a price on their heads. Crows bring $1 and their eggs 15 cents each. A. Woutjie, dairy farmer near Letaba, investigating a commotion on his farm at night, found that a pair of lions had killed six cows. He killed a lion and wounded a lioness.

Froze From Inside

Hard, white ice in a continuous column comes out of a new ice-making machine. The new method freezes the water from the inside outward. In conventional ice-making, the outside is frozen first.

Phone Fun

Mabel Jenson, 34, of New York, smiles as she talks to Michael Arneson, 42, a bachelor who lives atop a lonely 3500-foot mountain peak in Norway. Arneson announced his phone number to the world, saying he'd like a wife to talk to during winter nights. Mabel called, said she was lonely, too. In response to Arneson's invitation to "come right over," she said, she'd like to correspond first.

Country Store Is To Be Represented At Antiques Show

Woodstock, March 3—When we think of "The Country Store" foremost in our thoughts along with the traditional cracker barrel and potbellied stove, is the friendly spirit which prevails in such an atmosphere and where neighbors drop in whether through necessity or just for conversation. Such a place is Mrs. Betty Barnes' Country Store where all who admire the early American and primitive pieces are frequent visitors.

For many months past, Betty could be found daily, from early morn till late at night, sanding, rubbing, polishing and finishing the numerous pieces which will be taken to New York this week and displayed in her booth at the National Antiques Show in Madison Square Garden March 7 through March 13.

The pine pie cupboard with the original pierced tin panels has caused much comment since its arrival from Maryland. To the well-meaning remarks such as "I'm afraid you pulled a boner this time, Betty," and "It's nothing but an old painted cabinet," Betty smiled and replied, "Wait till I get those five layers of paint scraped off and refinish it," and as usual she was right.

These cupboards, back about 1800, were generally referred to as "safes" and were created by the joint work of tinsmith and carpenter to fill the need for a ventilated closet which would protect the weekly mass production of pie and cake from thieving insects, yet allow a flow of air to pass over them in order to prevent mold. The panels were handsomely ornamented in characteristic fashion with perforations of different sizes and shapes. The technique used by the tinsmiths was the same as that used for the old lanterns.

Another piece not frequently seen but which takes one back to the horse and buggy days is the "harness maker's bench," once a necessity on most farms for repairing and making horse collars. Such a bench may still be found in use where fine leatherwork is done.

At the Country Store this week, a lengthy discussion was held about the proper background to be used for displaying 70 pieces of Flow-Blue china of the 1800 period. Betty left the group and in a few minutes returned with a package of dye. Our curiosity was not satisfied until we saw a sheet produced and placed in a dye bath and plunged up and down in the solution until the right shade of pink was achieved.

Space does not permit itemizing and describing the contents of cases and cartons piled high upon each other to start their journey Friday. However, the prize-winning "hurdy gurdy" will be heard from Betty's booth when the show opens Monday.

Always curious about the beginning of such an enterprise, we learned that before coming to Woodstock in 1928, Betty had an antique and decorating shop on Fifth avenue, New York. Always fascinated by the romance of the early pieces, and having done considerable research while collecting them, she found she had more than she could properly house and had to dispose of some. Her other enterprises have included landscaping and collecting first editions.

During the summer months, period costumes are displayed hanging from clothes lines in front of the store, and sooner or later may be seen, with perhaps slight alterations at the theatre or summer parties in Woodstock.

Nursing Committee Hears Talk on Cancer

Woodstock, March 3.— Dr. George James, Ulster County Commissioner of Health, was the guest speaker last week at the Public Health Nursing Committee's regular meeting. While the main topic of his talk was on cancer control, Dr. James described the facilities to be made available upon completion of the Tumor Clinic in Kingston. He also spoke briefly regarding heart disease and tuberculosis.

"At the present time," Dr. James said, "The medical profession cannot prevent cancer but can prevent death from this disease." To this end, the speaker said complete cooperation by the public is necessary. He stressed the need for regular and complete physical examinations.

The Ulster County Public Health nurses and the local nursing committees were highly praised for the fine job they are doing throughout the county. Continuing, the health commissioner told those present that there are now 18 Public Health Nurses in the county but there is sufficient work to be done to keep 36 nurses busy on the health program as set up. "Since we realize that tax funds are not inexhaustible," said Dr. James, "we try to accomplish the utmost with the funds available."

Reports of all committees were read during the business meeting when tentative plans were made for "Open House" to be held during Public Health Nursing Week in April. The date will be announced.

Mrs. Clayton Harder, hostess, served refreshments when the meeting was adjourned.

Game Club Protests Pheasant Distribution

Woodstock, March 3—Members attending the regular meeting of the Woodstock Fish and Game Club Monday evening protested the new method for the distribution of pheasants as set up by New York state. Heretofore, the Woodstock group received approximately 90 birds each year.

A similar protest, it was learned, has also been registered by the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club, who under the new ruling would not be eligible to receive birds for their area.

It is expected that this whole matter will be brought up for discussion at the next meeting of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County, to take place later this month.

The sportsmen, it was learned, apparently have no complaint with regard to the method of pheasant distribution insofar as it pertains to the appropriation set up by the Board of Supervisors for the county.

John Peper, recommended that an additional $50 be given to the recreation committee to help defray expense on work done on the club house, which is used jointly by the Sportsmen's Club and the recreation group. Prior to this time $150 had been contributed by the club.

Fred Tripicco presided at the meeting which was attended by 24 members. The next meeting will be held in the Club House March 14.

Daughters of King To Hold Ceremony

Woodstock, March 3—Wearing costumes reminiscent of the nineties, members of the "Daughters of Kings" will dramatize the first meeting of the Shady circle held 60 years ago. The anniversary will be held Sunday in the Shady Church hall at 2 p. m.

During the ceremonies, there will be a candle drill to honor all members who have belonged to the society since its organization.

The background of this group is extremely interesting. It was originated in New York 63 years ago by a group of women interested in doing something to help others. The idea caught on until today the Daughters of Kings is an international order. The Shady group is known as the "Trusting Ten Circle" with a membership of 65 residing in and out of Ulster county. Their work embraces all phases of missionary work, as well as that of educating children.

The "Daughters" will serve supper after the program. The public is invited to join with the members of the organization in this celebration but Mrs. Fred Reynolds, president, has requested that those who plan to stay for supper, so advise her no later than Saturday of this week. Other officers include Mrs. Ida MacDaniel, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth MacDaniel, secretary; and Mrs. Alice Stone, treasurer.

Conservation Violation

Woodstock, March 3—Walter Fisher, Zena, was arrested by Game Protector J. H. Overbaugh this week on a charge of violating the conservation law by carrying a loaded automatic shotgun. Fisher was fined $10 at a hearing before Justice of the Peace George J. Braendly.

Village Notes

Woodstock, March 3—Lois McCahill, former Woodstocker, now residing in Larchmont, was the week-end guest of Windsley Muller.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Hasbrouck have returned from their Florida vacation.

Word has been received by friends of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Sluizer, Zena, that they sustained no serious injuries in a recent automobile accident in New Orleans where the Sluizers are vacationing.

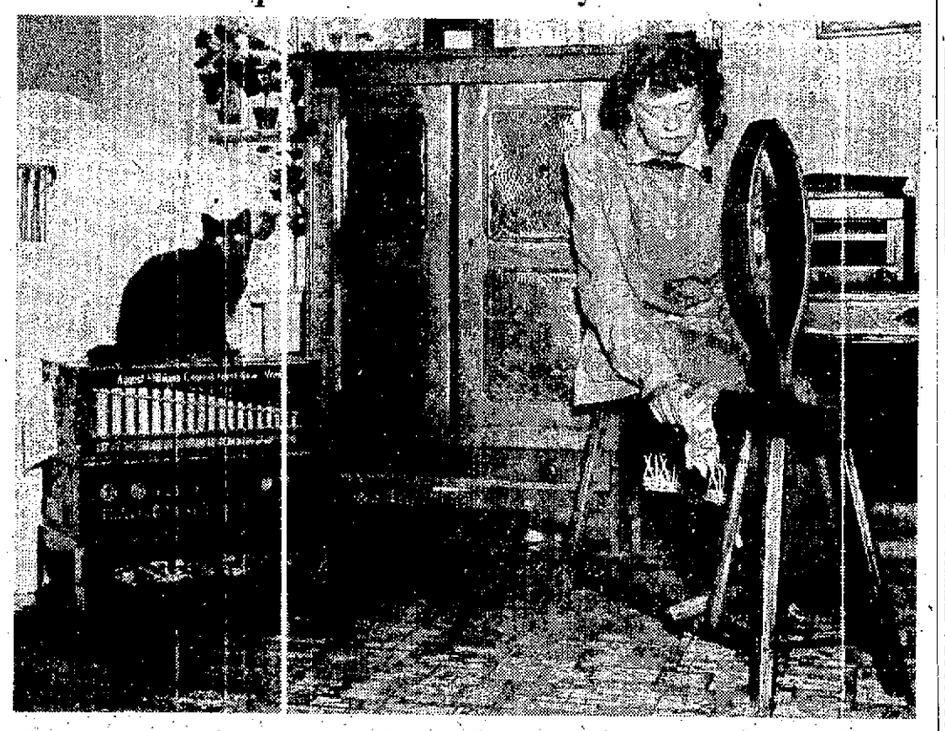
Mrs. Anton Otto Fisher was guest of honor at a birthday party Saturday evening in the home of Mrs. Margaret Kenyon. Other guests were Anto Otto Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Heerman.

Funeral services were held Monday in New York for Mrs. Helen Martin, former Woodstocker, who died Friday in a New York hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phelps are receiving congratulations on the arrival of their first child, a son weighing eight pounds at the New Rochelle Hospital.

Dan White, son of the late Harvey White, was in the village recently for a day's visit.

Antiques Are Made Ready for Show



Twinkles, who greets all customers and takes a keen interest in the work going on, seats himself on the "Harmonipan" admiring his mistress, Betty Barnes, as she puts the finishing touch on the Pine pie cupboard and Harness Maker's bench, which will be seen in the Antique Show at Madison Square Garden beginning Monday, March 7. (Freeman Photo)

Will Test Rockets

Washington, March 3 (AP) — A navy ship is bound for the South Pacific to test rockets which can reach a height of 78 miles. The converted seaplane tender U.S.S. Norton Sound left Port Hueneme, Calif., yesterday carrying a group of navy scientists to equatorial waters for the tests. The 11th Naval District said only that the purpose was "upper atmospheric research."

Gave Ski Lessons

Brunswick, Germany, March 3 (AP)—A skier who accidentally ran the Russian blockade by crossing the frontier into the Soviet zone in the Harz mountains was held by police for two days. They made him give them ski lessons.

'Archaic' Law Fought

The divorce court procedure of placing a monetary value on unfaithful wives has drawn the fire of Britain's Married Women's Association, in London. Women resent being still regarded by the law as chattels. They quote the late Justice McCardie who said: "In arriving at the damage much depends on the value of the woman and you have to assess her as you would a slave." Recently, a 26-year-old man who was "deprived" of his 23-year-old wife when she eloped with a 50-year-old sausage maker, was awarded $3,000 from the other man. Another husband got $4,000 for "the loss of a very charming wife who was also a good cook and housekeeper." These, the judge, said, were "assets of the greatest possible value." This, says the association's chairman, Miss Juanita Francis, is archaic.

19 Indictments Are Handed Up Here By Grand Jury

The Ulster County Grand Jury returned 19 indictments when it submitted its final report for the January-February term this morning before Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth at the county court house.

The report included 10 open indictments and nine sealed indictments. All but one were ordered transferred to the county court for trial on motion of District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn. There was one dismissal reported.

Axel Espegren, indicted for burglary third degree and unlawful entry allegedly committed February 12, 1949, at Ellenville, entered a plea of guilty to the unlawful entry count and was sentenced to one year in jail, suspended in view of his clean record and extenuating circumstances by Justice Elsworth. The first count, that of burglary, was dismissed on motion of the district attorney.

Other open indictments, all of which were moved to the county court and formal pleas of innocent entered by the court, were:

Roy James Wright, indicted for burglary third degree and unlawful entry allegedly committed at a summer home at Sundown on July 17, 1948.

William Richardson, 36, of Ardonia, indicted under one count of first degree assault and two counts of second degree assault, allegedly committed at Ardonia December 5. Richardson was arrested by state police who charged he shot and injured Mrs. Lilly Simpson, 33, of Ardonia.

Frank Ellis Baldwin, indicted for third degree burglary and unlawful entry, allegedly committed at the G.L.F. petroleum station at Milton on February 4, 1949.

Henry Vincent Reight, indicted for grand larceny, first degree, allegedly committed January 19, 1949, at Wallkill. He was charged with the theft of an automobile.

Charles Pullman, indicted under two counts of forgery, second degree, allegedly committed in this county January 13, 1947.

James Donald Perault, 16, of Kerhonkson, indicted for sodomy and assault, second degree, allegedly committed at the Kerhonkson school on January 28, 1949. The grand jury recommended Perault be tried as a youthful offender.

Thomas Allen Seward, 21, of 60 Cedar street, and Horace Edward Conway, 55, same address, indicted under separate indictments charging sodomy, allegedly committed in this city December 14.

Freddie Ferro, 30, of New York city, and Patrick Bartone, 26, Brooklyn, indicted on one indictment of two counts charging burglary third degree and unlawful entry, allegedly committed February 18, 1949, at the home of Julius Mandel, 65 West Chestnut street.

After receiving the report, Justice Elsworth dismissed the grand jury members with the thanks of the court for their "long and strenuous duty."

Local Death Record

William Travis of Phoenicia died Wednesday in Kingston. He was the husband of Eleanore Travis. Also surviving is a daughter, Mary Agnes. Funeral services will be held Friday at 9 a. m. from the Gormley Funeral Home, thence to the St. Francis de Sales Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul at 9:30 a. m. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Francis de Sales Cemetery.

The funeral of Miss Mary Van Gaasbeek, formerly of 112 Henry street who died Sunday morning, was held Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street. There was a large attendance at the service including a group from the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church of which she was a lifelong member. The Rev. William R. Peckham, pastor of the church, officiated at the funeral home and also at the grave in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

The funeral of Cpl. Richard Stanley Neville was held yesterday afternoon following the arrival of the 2:20 West Shore train. The body was met at the station by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, members of Colonial Camp 75, United Spanish War Veterans; Auxiliary of Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, V.F.W., and American Legion Post 150, color guard. Following the committal service conducted by the Rev. Dr. Fred H. Deming, taps were sounded by John R. Mayone of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League. The flag was presented to Mrs. Neville by Sgt. Michael Bovidge, who was the government escort from the Brooklyn army base. Members of the color guard were Robert Zimmer, Louis Tudoroff, Thomas Bohan and Donald Moore. Bearers, members of V.F.W., were Sidney Lane, Achilles Naccarato, Fritz Kammann, Ralph Seism, Frank Stopski and Howard Staub-le.

Mrs. Minnie Ellis Gerald died early this morning at her home, 38 Staples street. Prior to her death she had resided in Clintondale for 40 years. Following the death of her husband, Ennis Gerald, she removed to her Kingston address and had resided with her cousin, Mrs. Edgar Schoonmaker, for the past 15 years. She was a member of Trinity Methodist Church for many years after she transferred from the Clintondale Methodist Church. Besides her cousin, she is survived by several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held from the Sutton Funeral Home, Clintondale, Saturday at 2:30 p. m. with the Rev. Herbert I. Killinger, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church, in charge. The Rev. Dr. Fred H. Deming will assist. Relatives and friends may call at the funeral home at any time Friday afternoon and evening. Burial will be in the family plot in Lloyd Cemetery.

John J. Barton of Port Ewen, died Wednesday afternoon, following a long illness. Born in Port Ewen, he was the son of the late John and Bridget McCloskey Barton. He resided there his entire life and before his retirement some time ago, he followed the transportation business and was well known on the water ways of this and adjoining states. He is survived by his wife who before her marriage was Catherine Silk; a sister, Mrs. Catherine Hamilton of Teaneck, N. J., two brothers, Arthur of Little Ferry, N. J., and Charles of Port Ewen, also several nieces and nephews. Mr. Barton was a member of the Holy Name Society of the Church of the Presentation. The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, and at the Church of the Presentation at 10 o'clock where a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Members of the Holy Name Society will meet at the funeral home Friday evening at 8 o'clock to recite the Rosary.

70 Persons Drowned

Hong Kong, March 3 (AP)—Seventy persons were drowned today by a sudden storm which swamped 50 fishing junks in Mirs Bay.

There are from five to 13 cubs in a wolf's litter.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 3 (AP)—Rising tendencies didn't get very far in the stock market today and prices muddled around in a fractional range.

Gains and losses were thoroughly scrambled. Many issues jogged from the plus column to the minus and back while many just remained at Wednesday's close.

Trade was moderately active for a while but soon quieted.

Higher in the curb were American Gas, Kaiser-Frazer, Pantepec Oil (despite a reduced dividend), Niagara Hudson Power, and Electric Bond & Share. Salt Dome Oil, McCord Corp., and Lakey Foundry slipped a trifle.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 60 Beaver street, New York city, branch office, 41 John street, R. B. Osterhoudt, manager.

Four Men Are Injured

New York, March 3 (AP)—Four firefighters were injured and 3,000 chickens were killed early today in a four-alarm blaze which swept a lower east side loft building. Fire Marshal William Murphy estimated damage of more than $50,000 to the building at 6 Birmingham street. Edward Connors, deputy chief of staff and operations of the fire department, was one of three firemen injured when three floors of the seven-story building collapsed. The injured are not in serious condition. Twenty-seven pieces of fire apparatus and two ambulances were at the scene. Origin of the blaze was not immediately determined.

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose, will hold its regular meeting at 8 o'clock tonight at the Moose Hall, 574 Broadway.

The regular weekly business meeting of Charles DeWitt Council, 92, Junior Order United American Mechanics, will be held Friday at 8 p. m. at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry, street. All members are requested to attend. A social hour with refreshments will follow the business session.

Mystic Court, 62, Order of the Amaranth, has received two invitations to attend events at other courts. One is to visit Martha Cordner Court, Suffern, March 9, for initiation of a class of candidates. The other is to attend Winona Court, Poughkeepsie, March 10, for the official visit of district grand officers.

Says Rates Reasonable

Albany, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—The New York Telephone Company testified today that its equipment depreciation rates were reasonable. Philip O. Moynahan, general appraisal engineer, outlined methods of computing depreciation as the Public Service Commission continued a hearing on the company's application for permission to increase its telephone rates 15 per cent. Moynahan said the depreciation rates fairly reflected the service life of telephone equipment.

Gang Warfare Spreads

New York, March 3 (AP)—Juvenile gang warfare spread to the Bronx last night resulting in the stabbing of one boy, the arrest of eight youths and the seizure of pistols and knives. Police said two gangs—the Happy Gents and the Comets—clashed noisily near Public School 55 following a feud over the affections of a girl. Carl Butler, 16, was injured slightly by a stab wound.

Canastota School Burns

Canastota, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—Approximately 250 pupils marched safely from the Chapel street school in this Madison county village today during a fire which swept the structure. There were no casualties reported. Leland Wright, a music teacher at the junior high school, rang a fire bell at about 10:30 a. m. when he noticed smoke in the classroom.

Late Bulletin

New York, March 3 (AP)—A Protestant Episcopal rector today refused to obey the order of his bishop that he resign from the church as a result of the "outside activities" of his son, the assistant rector, head of an allegedly subversive group.

The Rev. Dr. John Howard Melish, rector of Holy Trinity Church in Brooklyn, was removed yesterday by the Rt. Rev. James P. DeWolfe, bishop of Long Island.

In a statement Dr. Melish said: "I cannot withdraw from this fight as long as my congregation desires me to stay."

More than 70 per cent of the church where he has been rector for 45 years wish him to stay, he said. He characterized the bishop's action as an "invasion of the rights of the congregation."

First Skirmishes Won

Washington, March 3 (AP)—Determined southern senators appeared today to have won the first skirmishes in the cautious battle of the filibuster. As the talkathon went into its fourth day, the Dixie forces could claim these points: 1. Senate Majority Leader Lucas (D.-Ill.) reversed an earlier plan to offer today a test petition on debate limitation. He said he might be accused of choking off debate too early. 2. The Senate G.O.P. leaders' adopted a hands off policy on Republican voting. They concede that, like the Democrats, the Republicans are split on the issue. 3. At least one Republican, Senator Langer of North Dakota, publicly pledged his vote against "gag rule." In the past he has been one of the longest and loudest Senate speakers.

Boxcar Arrives

Poughkeepsie, March 3 — New York state's boxcar from the French Gratitude Train arrived on a giant army trailer Wednesday and is being made ready for Saturday's official reception, featuring a parade arranged by Dutchess County Volture, La Societe, 40 & 8. It rests on special tracks in New Market street. Ulster county members of the 40 & 8 will take part in the parade, led by their locomotive.

Lenten Services

The first of a series of union Lenten services to be conducted in uptown churches will be held this evening at 7:45 o'clock at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. The Rev. Ralph Houston, district superintendent of the New York District, will preach. There will be a special musical program by the choir of the church. The second in the series of Thursday evening services will be held next week at the First Dutch Reformed Church.

New Pastor Plans To Begin Duties In Ponckhockie

The Rev. Frederick E. Williams, former pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Setonket, L. I., for nearly 16 years, has accepted a call from the Ponckhockie Congregational Church and will assume his pastoral duties there Sunday, it was announced today.

The new pastor replaces the Rev. Osterhoudt Phillips, who announced several months ago that he would enter the evangelistic field in the South.

A graduate of Hamilton College, Auburn Union Theological Seminary, the Rev. Williams holds a masters degree from Columbia University. He taught for some time in high school and college before entering the ministry. Mrs. Williams is also a teacher and both did substitute teaching at Setonket. Their son, Frederick Russell D. Williams, who teaches in the Catskill High School, is organist at a large church in Albany.

The Rev. Williams has been principal of a Daily Vocation Bible School for 16 summers. It was attended by between 600 and 700 children and young people, and in this work he was assisted by Mrs. Williams.

Outstanding in his work was his ministry to the Seldon Mission, which through his efforts, has been organized into a steady growing church over which he has petitioned the Presbytery to place a full time minister, and they have agreed to do this.

Although originally ordained in the Congregational Church, besides his recent pastorate, he has served as pastor of Old Hopewell Presbyterian, Monroe First Presbyterian, both in Orange county, and a Presbyterian church in the Province of Ontario, Canada.

The pastor has served on several committees in the Long Island Presbytery and has been their delegate to the Grand Assembly in St. Louis, the New York State Synod, and twice the Rev. and Mrs. Williams have been hosts to the Long Island Presbytery in their church. He has been for a number of years the chaplain of the Mayflower Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

RECIPE

Using Miss-Lou Canned Shrimp at the New Low Price

PUFFY SHRIMP BAKE

1 can Miss-Lou Shrimp
4 slices bread
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
Salt, pepper, dry mustard
1½ cups American cheese
2 eggs
1½ cups milk

Spread bread with margarine, sprinkle with salt, pepper, dry mustard. Cut into cubes. Arrange layers of bread, shrimp, and grated cheese in greased casserole. Beat eggs, add milk; pour over other ingredients. Place casserole in pan of hot water; bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 1¼ hours, until firm. Serves 4.

One 5 oz. can Miss-Lou Shrimp equal to 1 lb. whole raw shrimp; no shells, no waste. Now a bigger bargain than ever! Tasty, plump, tender Miss-Lou Shrimp—rich in Vitamins A and D, protein, minerals, iodine. Already cooked, ready to eat—plain or in main dishes, cocktails, salads.

U. S. Supports Clay In Soviet Ousting

Washington, March 3 (AP)—The United States government, in a note to Russia, today gave General Lucius D. Clay full support in his demand that the Soviet repatriation mission be withdrawn from the American zone of Germany.

The American note, made public by the State Department, said Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's protest against Clay's action was packed with "misrepresentation and distortion of fact."

Molotov's protest was delivered to the American embassy in Moscow on February 24.

The American note was to be delivered to Molotov at Moscow today, by Foy Kohler, ranking American diplomat now on duty there.

21 Persons Charged

New York, March 3 (AP)—A New York county grand jury yesterday returned criminal informations charging 21 persons of extorting $36,870 in illegal rental fees. Seventeen of the accused pleaded innocent in Special Sessions Court and Justice William B. Northrop set the cases for trial April 4. District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said an 18th defendant was too ill to appear, that two were under arrest in Connecticut and that another was a fugitive.

'LONELY HEARTS' COUPLE EXAMINED

Raymond Fernandez, 34, and Martha Beck, 29, suspects in a "lonely hearts racket" series of slayings, are examined in Grand Rapids, Mich., municipal court and were held without bail for Circuit Court arraignment later. Left to right are: Officer James Toohey; Fernandez; Deputy Sheriff Clarence Randel and Martha Beck. (A.P. Wirephoto)

ask custody of Fernandez and Mrs. Beck if Michigan had no objections.

The grieving father of Mrs. Downing came here yesterday from Palisade, Neb., to claim her body and that of her daughter.

The father, Martin V. Price, retired farmer, chose from Mrs. Downing's belonging the dress in which she will be dressed for shipment tomorrow and burial in the family church plot at Palisade.

Letters Still Arrive

New York, March 3 (AP)—Letters from lovelorn women still are arriving here for swarthy Raymond M. Fernandez, who with his plump girl friend is accused of three killings in a "lonely hearts" fraud.

Queens county authorities said four letters from lonely women addressed to Fernandez have arrived here at the home of his sister, Mrs. Lena Cano, in the last 10 days.

The letters came from various parts of the country.

New indications of the extent of the alleged correspondent racket of Fernandez and Martha Beck, 29, caused police in several areas to review files concerning missing women.

In Wilmington, N. C., Mrs. Pearl Wilson, 74, said that her daughter, Mrs. Jane Wilson Thompson, 50, died of a heart ailment in Spain while accompanying Fernandez on a trip there.

Mrs. Wilson said she had received official word from the U. S. consul at Malaga, Spain, that her daughter's death had resulted from a heart ailment during an acute intestinal ailment.

Fernandez and Mrs. Beck are accused of slaying a Byron Center, Mich., widow and her young daughter. Authorities said they also confessed killing an Albany, N. Y., widow in Valley Stream, N. Y., near here.

Meanwhile, Nassau County District Attorney James M. Cehrig said he will ask a grand jury to indict the pair for the purported killing of Mrs. Janet Fay, of Albany, in Valley Stream on January 4.

A woman's body, believed to be Mrs. Fay, was found buried in a Queens cellar. Positive identification will be sought today with the aid of Mrs. Alton Spencer, of Amsterdam, N. Y., Mrs. Fay's stepdaughter.

Trustees Link Erie Rebels With Board of Regents

Albany, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—The state university trustees linked rebel Erie county Republican legislators with the Board of Regents today in a drive the trustees said would block creation of the state university system.

The trustees charged that a budget-cut demand by the Erie block was "obviously a corollary" to the Regents-sponsored Condon-Barrett bill.

The bill would deny the 15 trustees administrative control of 31 state-supported colleges which they are scheduled to take from the Regents April 1 and would relegate the trustees to the role of a planning agency.

The trustees said in a statement that the proposed legislation "would completely destroy this state's chances to have a state university system for many years to come."

The trustees also stated that "it would be impossible to make any real headway" on the system if Governor Dewey's budget recommendation of $12,000,000 for the university were slashed to $1,200,000 as proposed Monday by Senator Walter J. Mahoney, leader of the Erie Republicans fighting Dewey's proposed $168,200,000 tax boost.

The trustees, appointed last summer by Dewey, said they anticipated that a decision on the sites of two proposed medical schools under the state university system would "be reached in time to enable many new students to be enrolled next September."

Halcott Center Man Hurt

Millard Ballard, 21, of Halcott Center suffered a slight scalp laceration in an auto accident at Clinton avenue and Maiden Lane shortly after 6 p. m. Wednesday. He was riding in a car operated by Amos Kelder, Halcott Center which was in collision with one driven by Mario Modica, R.D. Kingston. Kelder was headed west on Maiden Lane and Modica north on Clinton avenue, at the time, a police report said. Both cars were damaged.

Beacon Postmaster Relief Bill Offered

Washington, March 3 (AP)—The House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill to relieve Mrs. Elizabeth B. Murphy, postmaster at Beacon, N. Y., of liability in connection with embezzlement of postal funds by a clerk in the office.

A House committee report said the clerk, Earle H. Cochrane, had pleaded guilty to embezzling $8,087 and was sentenced to 18 months in a federal prison. He was removed from his position in 1944.

Cochrane was bonded in the amount of $2,000 and his retirement deductions amount to $1,097.82, making a total of $3,097.82 which the government may recover, the report said.

C. of C. Receiving New Members Now

Nine new Kingston Chamber of Commerce members since January 1 were reported by Lawrence J. MacAvery, chairman of the membership committee today. The formal campaign for 1949 members will not get underway until May 1. Annual memberships received now will not expire until May 1, 1950.

The membership committee has had one meeting at which a goal of 600 members was set. This is an increase of nearly 200 over the number of active members on January 1. MacAvery stated that the early receipt of memberships is very encouraging to the committee.

To Speak Tonight

Alexander Fuhrman, director of the Kingston Boy's Club, will speak on the topic, "Youth of Yesterday" at tonight's meeting in the Hurley school. The meeting is being sponsored by the Hurley Grange. Also speaking will be Charles Frank who will talk on "Youth of Today." On March 17 a regional director of the Boy's Club of America will talk on "Youth of Tomorrow" at the Hurley school.

Flavored With Salt

Sour cream may be flavored with salt, sugar, and lemon juice and served as a dressing for a fruit salad. Orange, grapefruit, and banana slices on romaine or watercress makes a particularly good salad for this dressing; sprinkle the banana slices with a little of the citrus juice to keep them from turning color.

'The Red Cross Crusade'

By Sophie Schmidtkonz

The Red Cross Crusade
Is one of mercy
To soldiers and sailors
And refugees many.

The Red Cross Crusade
Is one of service,
To the sick, the hungry,
The crippled, the lonely.

So let this month
Carry with honor
The march of love gifts,
In the Star Spangled Banner

RUSSIAN MISSION UNDER SIEGE

U. S. military policemen talk outside Russian repatriation mission in Frankfurt, Germany, which has been blockaded following Russian refusal to comply with American orders to leave the U. S. zone of Germany. Four Russian officers and four soldiers and their families are in the mission. Water, gas and electricity has been cut off and the telephones disconnected in the bloodless siege, and food has been shut off by orders to M.P.'s to arrest anyone trying to enter or leave the building. *(A.P. SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, March 2—Elson Oakley, Jr., Homer Markle, Robert Haver, William Bartholmess and Philip Coletti drove to New York Monday and attended the Golden Gloves finals at Madison Square Garden.

Joseph H. Dewitt, war veteran of service in the Italian campaign, came up from Kingston Friday and called on several friends in his old home town.

Paul DeBruyn of Boiceville is now employed at the Pheasant Inn on the Onteora Trail.

Charles Personeus and family of Kingston were callers Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gould Personeus and Velma Personeus.

The first violet reported in the Onteora school district was found on January 10 by Jacqueline Friedman and Mary Ann Beisel, two of teacher Ada Lukac's pupils at the Brown's Station school, according to the current issue of the Onteora Bulletin.

Clarence Phillips, Jr., Glenford War 2 veteran and one time Shokan boy, was a caller in the village center Sunday. Clarence was employed on the Route 28 relocation job last summer and he hopes soon to secure work on the super highway near Saugerties.

Mrs. Herman Wendt is reported as recovering from a severe attack of the mumps. Although the peak of the local mumps epidemic was passed several weeks ago, there are a number of new cases in other sections of the reservoir country.

Mrs. Earl Brundage has a treasured copy of "Picturesque Ulster," sections Denning and Hardenburg. The illustrated historical and descriptive book, now a rare collector's item, is especially replete with interesting data and lore pertaining to the rugged Denning area which adjoins Olive on the west. The upper Rondout Valley in Denning is the former home of Mrs. Brundage who before marriage was Elma J. Hoornbeck.

No Ill Effects

Dusseldorf, Germany, March 3 (AP)—Village elders of Dassel have rejected a proposal for a public bathhouse in the village. The rejection came after a debate in which it was pointed out one resident reached the age of 89 without taking a bath and suffered no ill effects.

Only state flag bearing a coat of arms is the flag of Maryland, which bears the Calvert arms.

Turks Dig for Bodies

Istanbul, Turkey, March 3 (AP)—Searchers today dug for more bodies in the wreckage of a private munitions plant which blew up yesterday. The death toll was believed by eyewitnesses to be far heavier than the 15 estimated by a government spokesman. The plant was said by reliable informants to have engaged in making anti-aircraft shells for Egypt and Syria. Homes 100 yards away were knocked down and the plant itself was levelled. About 125 workmen were in the factory at the time.

Newspaper men began to call baseball enthusiasts "fanatics" in the eighties and, within a short time, called them merely "fans."

Clinics Reduced To One a Month

The Ulster County Health Department's weekly immunization clinic held every Monday afternoon at 1:30 at the Recreation Center, 97 Broadway, will only be held on the first Monday of every month beginning March 7, Dr. George James, health commissioner, announced today.

"The pre-school age population in the area of the clinic is now very well immunized and most of the children needing immunizations have received their scheduled inoculations," Dr. James said.

The weekly clinic is no longer needed since the use of a new vaccine allows for the diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough immunizations to be given all at one time, on a monthly schedule, rather than at irregular intervals as was the case with former vaccines used.

There is a possibility that other health department clinics will be scheduled in new localities as soon as quarters for the clinics are available.

GRANGE NEWS

Hurley Unit

Hurley Grange will hold its regular meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Hurley school. Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman, leader of the Kingston Boys' Club, will be the speaker. He will talk on "The Youth of Yesterday." The meeting will be open to the public at 9:30 p. m.

Mr. Vogel, under the auspices of the Hurley Fire Department, gave a fire demonstration for the children of the Hurley school Friday afternoon.

Hurley Juvenile

A Juvenile Grange of Hurley was organized last week. The youth project is sponsored by Hurley Grange 963. The following officers were elected:

Sheldon Boice, master; Joseph Pilz, overseer; Athena Snyder, lecturer; Russell Dixon, steward; Nancy Hutton, chaplain; Robert Read, gate keeper; Arthur Harder, secretary; Jansen Lockwood, treasurer; Judy Krom, Ceres; Carolyn Myer, Flora; Joan Marie Kolodziejski, Pomona; Jay Stauble, assistant; Melinda Basch, lady assistant steward; Billy Scheneck, flag bearer; Dianne Johnson, pianist; Nancy Keefe, assistant pianist. The service and hospitality committee comprises Marilyn Vogt, chairman; Grace Bruno and Joanne Maxwell.

The matron who will lead this group is Mrs. Vernon Goetchius. She will be assisted by Mrs. Claude Palen and Mrs. L. C. Dixon.

The executive committee representing the Grange proper also is composed of three members. The two already chosen are Mrs. Charles Lockwood and Mrs. Winfred Snyder. A third member will be chosen at a later date.

These officers were installed by the Ulster County Juvenile Deputy, Mrs. Isaac Graham and her assistants including Helen Caspersen, marshal; Lois Wager, assistant marshal; and Eleanor Roosa, chaplain.

The Juvenile Grange meetings will be held the second and fourth Thursday of each month at 3:30 p. m. at the Hurley School auditorium.

Others assisting in the formation of the Juvenile Grange were Mrs. Harriet Tryon and Mrs. Ada Stauble.

Stone Ridge Unit

The Stone Ridge Grange will hold its regular meeting Monday, March 7, at 8 p. m. at which time the Accord Grangers will visit the Stone Ridge Grange. Harold V. Story, worthy state deputy will attend. All members are requested to attend the meeting.

ESOPUS

Esopus, March 2—The annual Red Cross membership drive started Tuesday. Solicitors for Esopus village are Mrs. Alice Jones, chairman; Mrs. Pauline Pickle and C. Jones. Mrs. Dora Musa and Roberta Young are in charge of West Esopus.

Mrs. A. C. Nelson who has been spending the past month with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Enno Honnon in Richmond Hill, has returned to her home here.

Mrs. George Mowell and Mrs. Charles Palen spent Friday in Kingston.

Mrs. Margaret Witt of Kingston and Mrs. Ovid Baker were visitors in Poughkeepsie last Saturday.

Miss Barbara Mott who is teaching in Washingtonville spent the week-end at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowe and Mr. and Mrs. S. Nenni of Kingston were Sunday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Mott.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Mott were Sunday guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. Burhans in Kingston.

Mrs. H. Baker spent the week-end with relatives in Poughkeepsie.

Didn't Look Square

Washington, March 3 (AP)—Shoulder padding doesn't necessarily give people a square look. The Customs Bureau reported yesterday that one of its officers found a "small fortune in unset diamonds" hidden in shoulder padding in an overcoat owned by a couple arriving from overseas. The couple, not identified, had insisted they had no concealed jewelry, but the service said its officer was a suspicious man with "sensitive fingers." Now, it said, the couple "faces loss of the gems by forfeiture."

Railroad Advice

A representative of the Railroad Retirement Board will be at the examiner's room, second floor, New York Central Railroad station, Kingston, Wednesday, March 9, between the hours of 1 p. m. and 3 p. m. for the purpose of rendering assistance and advice to railroad workers in connection with matters concerning applications for retirement, applications for death benefits, and answering any inquiries in connection with the Railroad Retirement Act.

Eels live in fresh-water rivers, but go to the Sargasso Sea to spawn.

Beef on the Hoof

The amount of meat on a beef animal varies from 40 to 65 per cent of the live weight and averages 54 per cent, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

KRIPPLEBUSH

Kripplebush, March 2—The following persons united with the church last Sunday: Albert Davis, Arlita Davis, Joyce Davis, Mr. and Mrs. George Zellner, LeRoy Hendricks, and George Tompkins.

On Sunday, March 6, Sunday school will be held in the morning at 10 o'clock. There will be no church service as the quarterly conference will be held at Accord in the afternoon. All are invited to attend the conference which will be in charge of the Rev. Mr. Lee, district superintendent.

The choir members will meet at the Accord Methodist Church on Friday night.

The Kripplebush choir members and the Accord and Stone Ridge members met at the parsonage with the Rev. and Mrs. B. C. Schmidt last week.

The Easter banks have been distributed. They will be returned to the church on Easter Sunday.

Do You Remember

by
SOPHIE MILLER

After mentioning copy of "New York Herald" dated Saturday April 15, 1865, covering assassination of Lincoln, which paper with other items was loaned by Robert Matthews of Ponckhockie following are excerpts of the incident: "Details of the Assassination—Washington, April 14th 1865—Washington was thrown into an intense excitement a few minutes before 11 o'clock this evening, by the announcement that the President and Secretary Seward had been assassinated and were dead. The wildest excitement prevailed in all parts of the city Men, women and children rushed to and fro and the rumors were magnified until we had nearly every member of the Cabinet killed....

"The President and Mrs. Lincoln were at Ford's Theatre, listening to the performance of the "American Cousin," occupying a box in the second tier. At the close of the third act, a person entered the box occupied by the President and shot Mr. Lincoln in the head. The shot entered the back of his head and came out above the temple Mr. Lincoln fell forward in his seat and Mrs. Lincoln fainted.... Laura Keene, and the leader of the orchestra recognized the assassin, as J. Wilkes Booth, the actor. Whoever he was, it is plainly evident that he thoroughly understood the theatre, and all the approaches and modes of escape to the stage.

"General Grant and wife were advertised to be at the theatre this evening, but he started to Burlington at six o'clock instead.

"The President and Mrs. Lincoln did not start for the theatre until 8:15. Mrs. Lincoln had not been well, but because the papers had announced that General Grant and they were to be present, with General Grant going North, not wanting to disappoint the audience, the President went with some reluctance.

"At one o'clock A. M. his condition became critical "surrounded by his Cabinet ministers, all of whom were bathed in tears, Mr Stanton, sat on a chair near the President's bedside and wept like a child. Senator Sumner seated on the right of the President's couch was holding his right hand. He was sobbing like a woman, with his head bowed down almost on the pillow of the bed. ..Last bulletin ..Two o'clock A. M...The President is still alive, but there is no improvement in his condition."

Undoubtedly many of you have read or been told that you should not support your partner on the first round of bidding with less than four of his suit. That generally is a sound policy. However, I think that too many players bid no trump and then bid it again on the second round.

In today's hand, for example, South has a sound one spade bid. When West passes, North may bid either one no trump or two spades. He cannot bid two clubs, because you cannot bid a new suit in the two zone unless you have a trick and a half. With North's hand most of the better players would respond with two spades, but the bid of one no trump would not be too severely criticized.

Supposing that North does bid one no trump and South then bids two diamonds, North should not bid two no trump. His partner has told him that all of his strength lies in two suits, spades and diamonds. He asked North to try to support one or the other of those two suits. If North now bids two no trump, South cannot tell whether he has a weak hand or a strong one, and with the type of hand that South holds, he feels that he has to bid three no trump.

All that North has to do to keep the hand out of trouble is to bid two spades over two diamonds. This gives South the whole picture. It tells him that North has a weak hand, that he does not have four spades but prefers that the hand be played at spades rather than diamonds, and that North is not interested in going to game.

About 8,000,000 square miles of the earth's surface are covered with ice the year round.

SLEEPING DEATH

By HOWARD A. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

New York, March 3 (AP)—Sleeping pills may substitute for the third degree, both to make men tell the truth, and to confess to lies.

These pills, the barbiturates, are among the better truth serums.

In World War II they were given to men suffering combat fatigue, a term covering shattered nerves and physical collapse. Barbiturates enabled these men to rest.

Some of them needed more than rest. These were men who had been driven half crazy by the shocks of their own, or their friends' mortal danger. These fears were repressed. Sometimes the men were scarcely aware of them.

Skillful psychiatrists continued the barbitrate treatment until the men relaxed completely. In that state, they remembered everything, but no longer wanted to conceal it. The fear was gone. They talked. Bad cases often recovered and talking freely was one of the reasons.

Beyond this point of helpfulness American physicians have not tried to go. Beyond is the state where personality begins to break down. This deteriorated condition is known because it has been highlighted hundreds of times in the cases of people who accidentally, voluntarily or ignorantly took too many sleeping pills, or took them in small amounts for too long a time.

A study made in the American Medical Association covers such cases from 300 hospitals. This study found that the pills are habit-forming. That they cause suicide. That they contribute to motor accidents by slowing minds and reflexes so far that the driver no longer has good control. But he doesn't realize this. Sex attacks were attributed to violent stages of sleeping pill effects. The pills substituted for alcohol.

The pills were cumulative, that is, what you take today remains in your system tomorrow, or later, to add to the effects of what you take then. Medical studies indicate that it usually takes about a week for all of a sleeping pill to get out of your system. Where people have used large amounts, the time runs up to two weeks.

If the sleeping pill barbiturates were given to a prisoner with intent to break him down, the first useful effect would be to dull his mind. These pills depress the nerve centers of the brain. They affect both muscles and mental qualities.

The prisoner would reach a stage where he no longer could think as clearly as before. The dosages might literally pare down personality until he was not

Kingston District Girl Scouts Announce Plans for Annual Birthday Party March 12

Kingston District Girl Scouts will hold a Scout Birthday party Saturday, March 12, at 2:15 p. m. in the Myron J. Michael School Auditorium. All leaders will receive detailed instructions for their troops.

A chalk talk will be given by the Rev. Morris Husted and Fred Van Deusen will entertain with feats of magic. Traditionally the girls will make their contributions to the Juliette Low Friendship Fund and the presentation will be under the direction of Mrs. Robert Torrens, Jr., chairman, assisted by Miss Ida Bruck, representative.

Miss Janice Hyde will lead the singing during the afternoon. The Brownie Smile Song will be sung by all the Brownies of the district.

Welcome will be brought by Mrs. Ashton Hart, county commissioner, and Mrs. J. Haviland Barley, district chairman.

The program will be opened with the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, National Anthem, Intermediate Promise, Brownie Promise, Promise Song, retiring of the colors; and the closing numbers will include Taps, Girl Scout Prayer, and All Night, All Day.

Lowell Club Hears of Music Development and Influence

Lowell Literary Club met with Mrs. Clyde Wonderly, Emerson street, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Wonderly gave an interesting talk on the influence of the times on music.

Part songs were used as madrigals until the early 18th century, she noted as she traced the development of musical composition. Three or four part songs were introduced and used in musical families, after the evening meal. Thomas Morley, Byrd and Purcell were early English composers of this type. About the beginning of the 17th century England and Italy were vying with each other. Up to that time the themes were mostly religious. Instruments were crude.

The first opera house was built in Italy in 1637 and religious dramas were given by the clergy. Palestrina and DeLasso of the Italians composed madrigals, masses and motets. Singing was the mode of expression.

The next era in music as marked by Mrs. Wonderly took place at the time of the Reformation, Louis XIV, Newton and his discoveries as well as that of the compass, barometer and others. These seemed to change the type of music. The transition came with Verdi and the use of the violin and clarinet in 1689. This brought out the secular expression of the dance music.

In conclusion several recordings were played of madrigals by the Austrian Boys' Choir and a selection from Purcell.

The next meeting will be March 15 at the home of Mrs. Rose K. Witter, 117 Fair street.

American Legion Auxiliary Reports Several Contributions

Several recent contributions were noted at the regular meeting of Kingston Post 150 American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday night.

The rehabilitation chairman reported that eight dollars worth of Valentines were sent to the veterans at Castle Point Hospital for their use. She also made an appeal for Easter cards to be donated to the veterans at Castle Point. These cards are to be sent before Easter in order to give the veterans time to mail them to their families and friends.

A contribution of $25 was given to the women's infirmary at Veterans' Mountain Camp. Also $25 was contributed to the rheumatic fever fund under the child welfare program.

Again the Department of New York is raising $5,000 to endow a bed in the children's ward of Memorial Hospital. Kingston Unit gave $32 to this cancer cradle fund. The amount is based on 25 cents per member.

Later in March the auxiliary is planning to hold a rummage sale to raise funds for these worthy causes. Anyone having articles to donate is asked to call Miss Alice Scardefield, president.

A card party will be held March 14, 8 p. m., at the Memorial Building. Anyone planning to fill a table is asked to contact either the president or any member of the committee: Mrs. Myrtle Carey, chairman; Mrs. Alfred Messinger, Mrs. William Krum, or Miss Mary Keresman.

The auxiliary is conducting a membership drive and is eager to welcome any eligible women into the organization.

New Paltz Glee Club Appears

New Paltz State Teachers College Women's Glee Club gave a concert Wednesday night at the First Baptist Church Assembly Hall. The concert was sponsored by the Men's Club of the church and proceeds will be used toward the church improvement fund. The choral group under the direction of Miss Marion Harding sang several types of songs.

The latter half of the program seemed more suited to the group. Perhaps this seemed better than the first selections because the singers remained seated in order to see the director. Several of the young women sang incidental solos during the numbers.

A sextette opened the program and for variety the college quartet of Juanita Will, Collette Magnusson, Henry Hopper and Frederick Rothfus sang a group. Mr. Hopper and Miss Magnusson who also sang the solo for Schubert's Standchen, are from Kingston. Jacqueline Steuding, another Kingston student, sang the solo in Silver Moon and incidental solos in several of the other numbers. In the chorus were other familiar faces from Kingston and vicinity. One of the outstanding solo voices of the evening was that of Clotilde Karsten, soprano.

One change was made in the printed program. The choral group sang The Song of Men by Richard Kountz in place of An American Psalm.

In closing the women sang the class songs which will be used in the Lantern ceremony this spring at the college. Mrs. Buchanan was the accompanist for the glee club.

Miss Hartfuer Is Bride

(Johnstone, Saugerties)

MRS. ALBERT J. GIBSON, JR.

Albert Gibson, Jr., Weds Jean Hartfuer Of West Hurley

The wedding of Miss Jean Katherine Hartfuer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Karl Hartfuer, West Hurley, to Albert J. Gibson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Gibson, Sr., Bloomington, took place Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Philip J. Nolan of St. John's Church, Stony Hollow.

Piano selections of traditional wedding music was played by Earl Jerris. The ceremony was performed before the fireplace which was decorated with candelabra, pink, purple and white snapdragons.

The bride was escorted by her father. She wore a white silk taffeta gown made with fitted bodice caught with tiny buttons, net yoke and deep taffeta bertha, full skirt. Her poke bonnet of pleated tulle was embroidered with seed pearls and held a fingertip veil. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. Alan H. Bonito, Jr., of Forest Hills, was matron of honor for her sister. Miss Patricia Ann Hartfuer of West Hurley, another sister, was bridesmaid. They wore gowns of heavy white crepe, tiny pink straw Victorian bonnets tied with velvet ribbons and carried old-fashioned bouquets of pink carnations.

Robert Shea of Bloomington, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Robert Van Vaikenburgh of Bombay and Clifford Van Valkenburgh of New Paltz, cousins of the bridegroom.

A reception for about 100 guests was held immediately following the ceremony. Afterward the couple left by plane for a wedding trip to Quebec where they will be at Chateau Frontenac for a week. For traveling Mrs. Gibson chose a strawberry pink knitted dress, brown velvet cloche, brown coat and corsage of brown orchids.

Mrs. Gibson is a graduate of Nottingham School of Syracuse and Moran Business School. She is employed at the National Ulster County Bank. Her husband is a graduate of Kingston High School and served three and a half years in the army, two of which were overseas. He is part owner of Gibson's Restaurant.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

DON'T LEAVE MAN ALONE

A question to which it is not easy to give a fair answer is the following: "If a girl goes to a public dance with a particular beau, what should she do when another man she knows comes up to their table and asks her to dance?"

The man should not ask her to dance unless he is also a friend of the man she is with, and in this case he should say to the girl, "May I have a little of this dance," or "Will you dance part of this with me," and as she starts to rise he turns to her host and says, "You don't mind, do you?" If the man she is with shows displeasure in any way, she should refuse to dance.

Stepmother Problem

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm a stepmother and have come up against my first problem as such. One of "my girls" is to be married. Her father is giving her away. The bride's mother will also be present and she is preferred by the grandparents and other relatives. I am resented by all but the immediate family. What would you do in my place? Stay away from the wedding? Should my husband (the bride's father) in that case stay away too?

Answer: If the wedding is being given by the bride's mother this does present a difficulty? In this case, your husband will, of course, give his daughter away and you properly may go to the church, but not be seated nearer than the fourth pew so as to avoid being in close proximity with the bride's mother. You could not possibly go to the bride's mother's house for the reception without an especial invitation. Whether in spite of the evident resentment of you, your husband can, and will, go to bid good-bye to his daughter in his ex-wife's house is a question which depends upon his personal feelings.

Eating Artichokes

Dear Mrs. Post: How should artichokes be eaten? Are fingers allowed?

Answer: When served with the leaves on, a leaf at a time is pulled off in the fingers, the edible end dipped in the sauce and then bitten off. When the center is reached, the thistle part is scraped away with the knife and the "heart" eaten with a fork.

Answers to such questions as what to do with bones, pits, and seeds: corn-on-the-cob, and mashing, mixing or dunking are given in Mrs. Post's leaflet, E-16, "Table Rules." To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, c/o the Kingston Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Will Support Soviets

Vienna, Austria, March 3 (AP)—"The Austrian people will support the Soviet Union in case of war," the Communist newspaper Volksstimme said today. The announcement in an unsigned editorial followed the pattern set by the French Communist Maurice Thorez and Communist leaders in Italy, Germany, Britain and the United States. "The people of Austria will not shed blood for the dollar. They will not raise their hands against the land of socialism," the paper declared.

Arm in Arm

Hamburg, Germany, March 3 (AP)—A German farmer who stripped and tarred his unfaithful wife and then put her on the roof of his barn for all the village to see, was given a suspended sentence of three months. The farmer and his wife left the court arm in arm.

fashion show are being planned by the Y.W.C.A. Women's Club. The show will be presented through the cooperation of local merchants Thursday, March 10, 8:30 p. m., at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Once again a display of furs and jewelry worth thousands of dollars will be shown as well as the latest in dresses and ensembles for spring. Individual hair styling will be another feature of the show.

Merchants who will be represented at the show include Helen Davenport, London's, Towne Shoppe, Gertrude Weyte, clothing; Leventhal's, furs; Safford and Scudder, jewelry; Teresa Rose, hats; Wonderly's, accessories; and Jack Martin, hair styling.

Mrs. Davenport will be the commentator.

Women of Moose Plan Trip To New York This Month

The regular meeting of the Women of the Moose was held at Moose Hall Wednesday night. Plans were made for the chapter to go to New York March 27 to attend Helen Smith Day.

Jane Short, senior regent, presided at the business meeting. The chapter also plans to conduct a membership drive.

Spring Fashion Turns Its Back on Pockets

Hip pockets add flip new style effects to these spring fashions. Patch pockets on the back of the brown tropical worsted coat dress (inset) are a sophisticated version of the back pockets on a man's levis. Featherweight silk print handkerchief flips from one of the cuffed pockets on the stiffened peplum of the blue woolen sharkskin suit (right).

By EPSIE KINARD, NEA Fashion Editor

New York (NEA) — Restless pockets, which are always on the move, have settled this spring at the back of women's clothes.

Although this new location is a style idea borrowed from men's pants, women's hip pockets are not intended to carry wallets or ease the burden of a lady's handbag.

The weightiest object, seen in a back hip pocket, woman-styled, is a silk print handkerchief which probably weighs little more than a feather. This hankie is anchored for a flip effect into one of the two cuffed pockets with which Hattie Carnegie whoops up the hip array on a woolen sharkskin suit of wedgewood blue. More hip interest comes from the jacket's stiffened peplum which flares out like a lampshade above a pedestal-slim skirt with more pockets in front.

Patch pockets, styled like those on a man's levis, look much more sophisticated than tha at the back of a suavely-tailored coat dress. Made of acorn-brown tropical worsted, this design of Jo Copeland's matches back interest with white pique collar and cuffs as fresh-looking as the first crocus.

average for trains operated over the route is about 85 cents per passenger mile.

Tables Are Introduced

The tables introduced showed that train No. 12 in 1946 had operated with an average of $1.95 per passenger mile and that this average revenue in 1947 dropped to $1.40 and for the eleven months of 1948 had dropped to $1.20 per passenger mile.

Other figures offered showed that train No. 17, Weehawken to Kingston on Sundays only, produced a 74 cent per passenger mile in 1946, dropped to 45 cents per passenger mile in 1947 and averaged the same for 11 months of 1948.

Train No. 29, Weehawken to Kingston which has not operated since December 5 and will not operate under the proposed revision of schedule had an average of 78 cents per passenger mile in 1946, dropped to 53 cents in 1947 and had an average of 62 cents per passenger mile during the 11 months it operated in 1948.

Figures on train No. 21, Weehawken to Kingston, which operated daily except Saturdays and Sundays prior to December 5, 1948, showed an average train passenger mile revenue of 90 cents for 1946, an average of 77 cents in 1947 and 61 cents in 1948 for the 11 month period reported.

Each statement contained the number of passengers handled by the individual trains together with the passenger revenue which was reduced to average passenger mile income for the three years indicated.

Train No. 3, Weehawken to Albany, showed a passenger mile average income in 1946 of 96 cents, 91 cents in 1947 and 84 cents for the eleven months of 1948 reported.

Train No. 2, Albany to Weehawken, daily except Sundays, indicated an average of $1.25 per passenger mile in 1946, 97 cents in 1947 and $1.03 for the eleven months of 1948.

Figures were also produced to indicate the revenue from passengers on all trains between Weehawken and Kingston and Kingston and Weehawken which ran the entire distance. These figures did not include income from passengers on trains which operate only to points below Kingston, such as Newburgh, West Haverstraw, etc.

The average passenger mile income in 1946 from all trains was $1.25, for 1947, 98 cents and for the eleven months period of 1948, 94 cents.

Figures for income from trains operating between Weehawken and Albany and Albany to Weehawken over the entire distance indicated an average passenger revenue of 99 cents in 1946, 86 cents in 1947 and 85 cents per mile for the 1948 eleven month period.

Other Figures Given

In addition to the passenger service income, figures were also submitted for mail and express revenue. A request was made by counsel that figures also be submitted at a subsequent hearing on income from newspaper and baggage business.

The mail and express income, figured on a very complicated table, was submitted by month for 1946, 1947 and 1948 on train No. 21, Weehawken to Kingston and train No. 3, Weehawken to Albany and also on all trains operating in both directions between Weehawken and Albany and Weehawken and Kingston for the month of November 1948.

A total revenue from all trains operating between Weehawken and Albany and Weehawken and Kingston, both ways, from mail, express and milk was submitted for the month of November. The total revenue from mail was $11,953.07; for express $10,094.94, and for milk $1,805.34. These figures were for trains which operated the entire distance between these points and does not include revenue from trains which operate only a portion of the distance. Additional figures covering another period of time was requested in order to strike an average.

Table of Revenue

A table of revenue from mail, express and milk on train No. 2 from Albany to Weehawken by months for the years 1946, 1947 and eleven months of 1948 was submitted. The figures showed that in November 1946 the mail income was $1,120.93, in 1947, $1,802.95 and in 1948, $481.44. Express income in 1946 was $218.01, in 1947, $624.82 and in 1948 for the same month $383.17. Milk income for train No. 2 which began in July of 1948 when milk first began to move on this train, showed a decline in revenue from $2,326.92 in July to $1,805.34 in November. In December the Catskill Mountain Division train arrived in Kingston too late to make connections with train No. 2 and no milk was shipped on train No. 2 from Kingston.

Figures were also produced to show the income from trains No. 509, now 572, and train No. 528 on the Catskill Mountain Division for ten months of 1948. The figures included revenue from passengers between Oneonta and Kingston. The average income per train mile from passengers between Kingston and Oneonta was 3 cents per mile and from Oneonta to Kingston the average was 5 cents per train mile.

These figures did not indicate any income from special trains such as snow trains and a request was made that passenger revenue on the Mountain Division be presented at a future hearing to include income from special trains and also figures be submitted on passenger revenue since the change in schedule was recently made.

It was stated that prior to converting to diesel power, a train crew included five men but since diesel power was substituted the crew consists of four men. There is also an express messinger.

Keyes was requested by counsel to produce at a future hearing all forms submitted by conductors from which the railroad compiled its records of traffic and income.

During the afternoon Mr. Keyes was withdrawn as a witness and William M. Smith, assistant manager of mail and express traffic, was re-called. He testified to increases in express rates as follows: December 1946 19 per cent increase, October 1947 17 per cent increase and January 1948 10 per cent increase. He said an increase of 25 per cent in mail rates had been granted.

Much express was diverted to parcel post when the express rates increased, Smith said.

Mr. Williamson, following questioning of Mr. Keyes as to whether special train revenue was included on the charts submitted, asked if there had not been income from ski trains, West Point cadet corps trains, Cherry-Blossom trains to Washington and other special trains. Keyes said there had been special train revenues but he did not know how many, perhaps from 100 to 150 during the year.

A request was made that the railroad produce all revenues from all sources of passenger traffic at the next hearing since the revenue indicated on the exhibits now in was from "regularly scheduled" trains only.

At this point a recess was taken until 12:30 p. m. today.

Hudson Market Is Lost in Construction

Hudson, N. Y., March 3 (AP) —Officials were seeking today to determine the cause of a fire that destroyed a one-story brick building in the final stages of construction.

No one was injured in the fire which was controlled about one hour after a general alarm was sounded. Damage was estimated by Fire Chief William A. Moore at $60,000.

The Oneida Market planned to open a super-market in the building at Warren and Third streets on April 1. The building had been erected after the firm's store at Seventh and Warren streets was destroyed by fire last November 19.

enough for all the large ships for a distance of approximately five miles upstream. Relocating the channel, however, would call for the dredging of a cross-over at this approximate five mile location to the present channel. The estimated cost for this dredging is $400,000.

I think it would be well to state here that we who live in the Hudson river valley appreciate the great shipping activity on the Hudson river. The construction of this proposed bridge will benefit the nation and would provide needed additional facilities for the movement of troops and armaments in time of war. Also it is a natural route for people coming from the New England States to New York state and vice versa. Navigation has increased tremendously on the Hudson river during the past years since the opening of the Port of Albany and the government should be most interested in providing a safe sea lane from Albany to facilitate the movemcgt of food stuffs and other materials from the Great Lakes area through the State Barge Canal.

Since the Department of the Army has control of all navigable streams of tidal waters and presently maintains a channel in the Hudson river from New York city to Albany, it would seem only fair since the state of New York is spending such a huge amount of money for this bridge, that this committee approve of the $400,000 needed to make this small change in the channel location.

It is my understanding that the corps of engineers has no objection to performing this work and has the authority to proceed with the change upon appropriation of the necessary funds.

Shot Kills Two Bulls

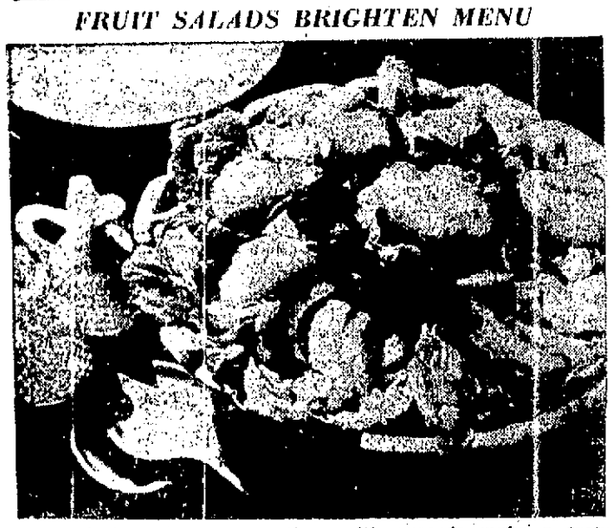
How he killed two elephants with one shot is the latest story of Harry Manners, big game hunter and ivory dealer, who always has a tale to tell when he returns to Lourenco Marques from a safari in Portuguese East Africa. On his last trip he shot 24 elephants in the Chibulo and Guija districts. One afternoon he came on two big bulls standing side by side in a clearing. He took careful aim and was surprised to see both elephants fall. The bullet had entered the ear of one, come out on the other side and then penetrated the brain of the second bull. Mrs. Manners, who always goes along, had a narrow escape when a native safari boy shot at a buffalo bull that wandered into the camp. The shot passed an inch above her head.

Women Ordered to Veil

Whether or not Persian Women of 1948 will go back without protest to masking their faces, at the behest of 15 prominent Moslem doctors, is the leading topic of discussion in Teheran. After 12 years of emancipation, they have been enjoined by the doctors to be veiled if they wish to go shopping unescorted. Many stores are said to be refusing to sell to the unveiled. In 1936 the Persian queen and princesses first appeared in public without veils, thus setting the fashion. Up to then, if a woman left her house she was hidden from top to toe with a black chadar and thick veil. At a theatre she was heavily veiled or sat behind three curtains. Women had no career but marriage. Divorce was easy — for the husband — and cheap.

EAT WELL for Less

FRUIT SALADS BRIGHTEN MENU



Grapefruit and orange sections with avocado make a tasty, vitamin-filled winter salad.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Sections of orange and grapefruit, combined with other fruits, such as apple, banana and avocado, put delight and needed vitamins into winter menus. Serve with your favorite dressing as a salad course. Or serve plain as a first course or as a refreshing dessert. These fruit cups start the meatless meal well.

Salmon and Potato Pie
(6 servings)

Two cups medium white sauce, 2 cups canned salmon, flaked, 2 cups sliced boiled potatoes, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper, 1 tablespoon minced celery leaves or parsley, pastry for casserole top, paprika.

Mix white sauce with the salmon and potatoes; season, add the parsley or celery leaves. Pour into a greased baking dish; sprinkle lightly with paprika; cover with pastry top. Gash the pastry decoratively to let the steam out. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Note: If mashed potato topping is used, bake only 15 minutes or long enough to brown the potatoes lightly.

Tuna Fish with Macaroni
(4-6 servings)

One box macaroni (to serve 4), boiling water, 1 cup medium white sauce, ½ teaspoon mixed mustard, ½ teaspoon chives, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1½ cups canned tuna fish, flaked.

Cook the macaroni as directed on the package. Mix the white sauce with the mustard, chives, seasonings; combine with the macaroni. Pour half of the macaroni into a greased baking dish; cover with the tuna fish. Then pour the rest of the macaroni on top. Sprinkle with parsley. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until bubbly.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Baked apples, cornflakes, nut coffee cake, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Meatless vegetable chowder, toasted peanut butter and chili sauce sandwiches, ginger pears, tea, milk.

DINNER: Orange, grapefruit and apple cup, salmon and potato pie, green beans, spiced beet salad, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, canned cranberry pudding, coffee, milk.

Jewish Leader Is To Speak Friday

Guest speaker at the Friday evening services in Ahavath Israel Synagogue will be S. S. Goss, M.D., prominent Jewish leader of New York, who is to talk in behalf of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Starting time of the program at the synagogue, 72 Wurts street, is 8 o'clock. All members of the congregation are urged to attend and invite their friends to hear Dr. Goss.

There is to be a reception at the vestry hall after the religious services.

Dr. Goss is president of the Men's Club of B'nai Jeshurun, New York's largest conservative congregation, and vice president of the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs. He is also a member of the board of the Jewish Foundation Fund (Keren Hayesod), and vice president of the Seventh Zionist District, New York.

Dr. Goss is at present visiting his son-in-law, Dr. Goldstein of Tannersville, who is active in civic and fraternal organizations of his town.

Democratic Club Elects New Officers

Woodstock, March 3—At its first regular meeting Tuesday evening in the Odd Fellows Hall, Bearsville, Mrs. Jean Lasher Gaede was elected president of the Woodstock Township Democratic Club. Other officers elected were William Pachner, vice-president; Edmund Gilligan, secretary, and Frank Meyer, treasurer.

Henry Morton Robinson, prominent local author and a member of the club, presented to the 30 or more persons present, the purpose of the organization and said that for the first time in some years, a full Democratic slate of candidates to fill town offices, would appear on the ballot in November.

The proposed constitution and by-laws were discussed and will be adopted at the next meeting, Monday evening, April 11. It was decided to hold future meetings on the second Monday of each month.

Mrs. Gaede and her committee will arrange appropriate programs to be presented at each meeting. Committeemen present were Kenneth Downer, Lester Avery, Carl Hahner and Edward Logan.

Long Island Ring Champions to Feature March 10 Boxing Card

Jim Hardy, Local Favorite; Barneson Slated on Program

Another boxing card that bids fair to glorifying the promotional efforts of B'nai B'rith is scheduled for Thursday night, March 10, at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium.

Four Long Island amateur champions are billed to scrap on the fistic program, meeting opposition from boys who are expected to press them for the victors' laurels.

"On paper the matches look as though they will furnish as much action, if not more, than the last show," Dave "Doodie" Popick remarked as he pointed out that fans are still talking about last week's card.

Popick is in charge of boxing in the absence of Bill Singer, chairman of the committee promoting the sport for B'nai B'rith. Singer is in Florida.

Long Island Champs

Featured five-round bouts on the card are:

Johnny Rodgers, 163, St. Albans, middleweight champion of Long Island, vs. Jim Hardy, Canaan, the best amateur in his weight in the Adirondack district.

Art Suffoletta, 145, St. Albans, welterweight champion of Long Island, vs. Sid Barneson, Canaan, outstanding upstate welter, a popular favorite in Kingston.

Billy Nerl, 126, St. Albans, Long Island featherweight champion, regarded as one of the fastest boys in his district, vs. Abe Adour of Clark Mills, billed as a clever scrapper with a zip in his punches.

Joe Logan, 118, St. Albans, Long Island bantamweight champion, vs. Reggie Henderson, Poughkeepsie, who made a name for himself on the last card, and hopes to continue his popularity.

There will be three three-round preliminaries, the first of which is to start at 9 p. m.

Rush on Reserves

Indications are that reserved seats will be as scarce as for the show featuring the New England navy champions which means that fans desiring their choice of ringside chairs must order them early at B'nai B'rith club.

Gentile Defeats Quick, 127-75

Tony Gentile continued to hold the upperhand over Harold Quick in their third block of a 500-point billiard challenge match at Chris Rienzo's Parlors, Downs street.

Gentile defeated Quick last night by 127 to 75 although Quick's high run of 33 was the best of the night. Gentile posted a high run of 21.

The fourth and final block will be held next Wednesday at Rienzo's Parlors starting at 8 o'clock.

Training Camp News in Brief

Di Mag Okay

New York, March 3 (AP) — Joe Di Maggio and his aching heel headed back to the New York Yankees' training camp today after a quick visit to his Baltimore doctor.

The verdict: He's okay. No medical attention required.

The right heel, from which a bone spur was removed last fall, flared up after the Yankee clipper's first workout Tuesday. Taking no chances with their star, the Yankees sent him winging back to Dr. George Bennett.

After an inspection the doctor said: "There was nothing to do about Joe's heel at this time. I believe he and the Yankee officials became unduly alarmed over the reaction to the first workout."

Di Maggio came on to New York and was to leave this morning (10 a. m., E.S.T.) by plane for St. Petersburg, Fla. He was due back in camp at 2:20 p. m., E.S.T.).

The star outfielder reported that the heel pained most of the time and "really hurt when I run." Dr. Bennett advised special care but said he was optimistic about Joe's chances of being in good shape in time to open the season.

Only three times in the 10 season's he's played for the Yankees has Di Maggio been available on opening day. He's had most every ailment imaginable—knee trouble, eye trouble, stomach trouble, tonsilitis, arm trouble and heel trouble.

Two years ago he had a spur removed from his left heel. It took a skin-grafting job to put him back in shape. Last year he was recovering from a bone-chip operation on his throwing arm.

When Manager Casey Stengel heard of Dr. Bennett's report he said: "Now I can get up off my knees. If he don't want to play for a month it's okay with me just so long as he is all right."

Fleming In Fold

Les Fleming, Pittsburgh infielder, signed his contract. All of the Pirates now have agreed to terms. Eddie Stanky agreed to the Boston Braves' offer leaving the National League champions with four on the unsatisfied list. Andy Seminick, Philadelphia catcher, signed and cut the Phils' holdouts to two.

Drills Stepped Up

With intra-squad games scheduled for this week-end in many camps, the managers stepped up drills and will continue to increase the pace. Warm weather returned to the Florida camps which had opened Tuesday with the thermometer in the 50s.

Other Camp News

Outfielder Pete Reiser, who moved from Brooklyn to the Boston Braves during the winter, provided a fancy slugging exhibition at Bradenton, Fla., where one of his drives carried 380 feet. . . . Slugger Ralph Kiner was still among the missing in the Pittsburgh camp at San Bernardino, Calif., although he has signed his contract. . . . Pitcher Harry Gumbert and the Cincinnati Reds were still disagreeing on terms. Hank Sauer, the Reds' home run hitter, took his first workout yesterday.

In The Pocket

with CHARLIE TIANO

• Bagatelles:

Ronnie Scheffel's scoring heroics for the 1948-49 Kingston High School basketball squad have earned him a place in that select circle with Charlie Bock, Rod Sagendorf, Zeke Zelie, Big Ed Weaver, Tony Albany and other Maroon immortals. But, for sheer drama, nothing in K.H.S. annals compares with Lafayette "Champ" Holstein's two historic game-winning deuces against Port Jervis and Beacon. Those are truly shots to remember.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Having waded through Bugs Baer's recent tome, "Father Got a Stiff Neck Licking the Beer Off His Shoulder Blades," we are about to compose a treatise on rabbit hunting. It will be dedicated to Supreme Court Justice Harry Schirick, George Rusk, Alex Gerluk, Dede Badner, Ed Modjeska and Jackie Bartlett. A recent rabbit safari with these distinguished gentlemen of the outdoors convinced us of just one thing: rabbits never run out of breath. But more of that later. While on outdoor subjects, don't you think nature is amazing. Who would have thought of growing a fly-swatter on the rear end of a cow? An amazing young Amazon known as Katie Schmitt is averaging about 42 points a game in Orange county basketball circles.

• A March Tip to Golfers:

Via Larry Robinson: "In the month of March or early April try to concentrate on using the hands. If you get the hand action down, the body movements will follow. Too many players try to think of everything the first time they pick up the club—backswing, pivot, shoulder dip, etc. If they just forget everything but using the hands, they will lose over-consciousness of body action, and get their swing back in shape much more quickly."

A "Down With Joe DiMaggio Club" spokesman has advanced seven reasons why the Boston Red Sox are a shoo-in for the 1949 American League pennant race. As biased opinions they are naturally presented without comment, viz:

1. All the Red Sox have to do is pick up where they left off last season, when they came from 10½ games off the pace, 13 in the loss column, to race the Indians into the junior wheel's first playoff in 48 years.

2. The chances are all against their being saddled with their miserable start of 1948 for a second year in succession.

3. They are loaded like a Notre Dame football squad.

4. They have the advantage of the friendly left field wall at Fenway Park throughout 77 games, or half the schedule.

5. Johnny Pesky is now accustomed to third base.

6. Joe McCarthy knows the Red Sox, and they are now well acquainted with him.

7. (Important). They have Ted Williams. You know, that famous fireman!

• Siena Moves to Denver:

Siena College's rise in the nation's basketball picture can probably be attributed to one factor . . . defense. The Loudonville (just north of Albany) college, which has grown from 90 students, 11 years ago to 2700 today, has already compiled a neat record of 20-5. They will compete in the first annual Catholic Invitation Intercollegiate Tournament in Denver, March 20-26.

Coach Danny Cunha, former Notre Dame cager, like Oklahoma A.&M.'s Hank Iba, stresses defense before anything else. According to NCAA statistics, the Siena Indians are the second best defensive club in the nation. Iba's Cowpokes, of course, being the perenial leaders.

Cunha is a strict fundamentalist who strives to minimize game errors by his players.

"If my team makes less mistakes than the opponent, we have a better chance o win," says Cunha. "Our players stress control of the ball. We hold the ball until there is a good chance to score. We don't pop away haphazardly with the accent in luck instead of skill," points out the Siena mentor. And he wants strictly team players.

Aside to Joe Epstein: Is it true that you took a powder the other night when Manny Calao, your ex-coach, pounded the maples for 227 at the Bowlodrome? Can't you take it?

Then there was the gag about the ski resort operators who have just switched to selling umbrellas in the Sahara.

Winners to Meet Sicklers Next Week

Wiltwyck Motors moved into the finals of the City Recreation League's Shaughnessy playoffs Wednesday night by scoring a 33 to 23 victory over Chez Emile.

As a result of last night's semi-final game, Wiltwyck's will open a best two out of three game series with Sickler's Delivery at the municipal auditorium next Wednesday night, March 9.

Hunt Scores 14

Led by Bob Hunt who swished the cords for 14 markers, Wiltwycks got off to a 19 to 10 edge at halftime and continued to hold the upperhand in the final two periods of play.

Hunt tossed in six fields and followed with two foul conversions for his high of 14 points.

Clark Mains, forward for the Chezzies, paced his club in the scoring column with 10 points.

In last night's preliminary the City League All Stars turned back Sickler's Delivery by 61 to 43.

Gene Fitzgerald of Beichert's Studebakers, bucketed 19 points to pace the winners. Dick Priest followed with 11 and Percy Greene tossed in 10. Big George Bloom accounted for 14 of Sickler's markers. The All Stars held a 19 to 17 lead at the half.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)

(By The Associated Press)

Baseball

Baltimore—Joe DiMaggio, the Yankees' $90,000-a-year outfielder, was told he could return to training camp after Dr. George Bennett, examining ailing right heel of player, said it was only a "flare-up."

Sarasota, Fla.—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler said he would conduct a hearing on the dispute between the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns over Sportsman's Park, which Browns have asked Cards to vacate. He also plans a hearing Friday on the Yanks-Indians dispute over the signing of two Negro players—Art Wilson and Luis Marquez.

Basketball

New York—Bradley and Western Kentucky were invited to National Invitation tournament leaving four spots to fill. Kentucky and St. Louis are already invited.

Storrs, Conn.—Tony Lavelli of Yale scored 32 points against University of Connecticut, and moved into a tie with George Mikan for fifth place among all-time high college scorers. Lavelli has 1,870 points.

Redondo Beach, Calif. — Bill Moore of Whittier College scored 17 points to run his all-time college total to 1,611 points, a record for a Pacific coast player. Old mark was 1,596 by Hank Luisetti at Stanford.

Miscellaneous

New York—Henry Laskau of New York set a new world record for the mile walk indoors of 6:22.7. The previous mark, set by Laskau two weeks ago, was 6:24.6.

Princeton, N. J.—Joe Verdeur Olympic swim champion from La-Salle College, set new world short-course 100-yard breaststroke record set by Don Deforest in 1947.

Gun Club Meets

The East Kingston Rod and Gun Club will hold its regular meeting at Acker's Hotel, East Kingston, tonight at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend because of the importance of the meeting.

White Plains, N. Y.—Fitzie Pruden, 143¾, St. Catherines, Ont., knocked out Pat Harden, 138¾, New York, 5.

Spirit of 1949 Giants Even Surprises Leo Durocher in Early Phoenix Drills

By GAYLE TALBOT

Phoenix, Ariz., March 3 (AP)—In quite a few years of observing, this agent has never seen a ball club pitch into spring training with quite the zing and zest that the New York Giants have exhibited the past two days.

They're going to be one of the finest conditioned outfits that ever hit opening day, barring the unforeseen. The weather is great and Leo Durocher is driving the club like a wild man.

"In all my baseball career—even when I had that young bunch at Brooklyn—I've never run into a spirit quite like this," Durocher declared after the second day's session had run to more than three hours.

In view of this thing that has happened to a team which was not previously noted for its hustle, it might even become necessary to revise some earlier estimates of the Polo Grounders.

No one can say yet how well Walker Cooper's game knee is going to come back, but otherwise the Giants regulars appear to have shaken the aches and ills which plagued them last year. They all think they're going to have a big year, and if it should turn out that way they could be rough.

Cooper has been climbing the hills around here for a couple of weeks and the knee has stood up. He appears to get around about as fast as he ever did in infield drill. He was never exactly catlike.

Willard Marshall, who had a poor year, has taken off some weight and looks ready to go. Johnny Mize is lighter than he was at any time last season, Durocher says. Second-Baseman Bill Rigney is throwing well again, and Johnny Kerr, who held out last spring and never got going, is hustling at short.

Durocher has every reason to feel pleased as he starts his first full year as Giants manager, particularly as there is a widespread belief he is going to be expected to deliver in rather short order.

Almost man to man, this is the same Giants team which set a new major league homerun record two races ago. It does not stand to reason that four or five of its best men will flop again as they did in '48.

Pitching still is the problem, but there is bright hope in camp that Durocher will find four capable starters this time.

Yesterday, as a result of Durocher's exhortations, the Giants put on such a dashing infield drill that a large crowd several times burst into applause, which is most unusual during practice.

Slomenski Pitted In A.B.C. Tonight

Atlantic City, N. J., March 3 (AP)—Stan Slomenski of Newark, N. J., the "Arm" in bowling, makes his appearance in the 46th annual American Bowling Congress tournament tonight.

If the former Scranton, Pa., coal miner, now a produce dealer, performs as he has everywhere else in the last two years there'll be a few changes made among the leaders.

Since pairing with Johnny Dayon, also of Newark, to win the national two-man match game championship in Philadelphia several weeks ago, Slomenski is the most talked of bowler in the nation.

With powerful arms that were built up like iron bars through his many years as a coal miner, the 34-year-old Newark bowler whipped his ball against the pins in the national doubles tourney for a 217 average over a 120 game stretch.

Tonight Slomenski, along with Nick Zazzelli, 65-year-old veteran and former New Jersey state match game king, Charles (Chick) Chicarelli, Alex Murzinski and Elmer Fish, will bowl with the Miller High Life Beer team of New York.

Also bowling tonight will be the Stroh's Bohemians of Detroit, captained by Bill Kene, who anchored the Strohs to the national team match game title several years ago.

American Bowling Congress officials are looking forward to the first 3,000 series of the tournament in tonight's shooting.

The only change in the standing yesterday produced a new leader in the all-events when Norman (Nic) Freed, 53-year-old Allentown bowler rolled into first place in the all-events with an 1887 total. He had 611 in his team event Tuesday, and 618 and 658 respectively in his doubles and singles yesterday.

High Falls Juniors Trip Hurley, 40-39

High Falls Juniors eked out a 40-39 victory over Hurley this week, coming from behind to wipe out a six-point halftime deficit.

G. Campbell paced High Falls with 20 points. Schenck tossed in 14 and R. Laware 10 for the losers.

The score:

High Falls Jr.'s (40)—L. Coddington f 2, H. Turner f 8, J. Smith f 1, K. Smith f 3, G. Campbell c 20, E. Campbell g 4, G. Smith g 2, E. Nagle g

Hurley (39)—Schenck f 14, J. Hickey f 4, T. Hickey f 5, Brown g 2, North g 4, R. Laware g 10.

Worcester, Mass. — Timothy "Buddy" Hayes, 128½, Boston, knocked out Irish Johnny Graham, 132, Paterson, N. J., 7.

World Famous Maestro Says
Utica Club Beer and Ale are Best at Any Price

OLE WINDINGSTAD . . . internationally known maestro who has conducted the Oslo Philharmonic, New York Philharmonic, NBC Symphony, New Orleans Symphony, Metropolitan Opera Orchestra . . .

"I am particular about what musical numbers I conduct . . . and about what I eat and drink," says Mr. Windingstad.
"Utica Club Beer and Ale have a distinctive taste. Indeed, I can say without reserve that your Utica Beer and Ale are the best at any price.
"Unfortunately of late I find it hard to buy Utica Club Beer and Ale; and several times I have had to embarrass my guests by offering them Beer and Ale more costly, but inferior in taste and quality. Perhaps the reason why I could not buy your products was the greater demand than supply."
Approved by Ole Windingstad
And no wonder! Utica Club is brewed to its delicate peak flavor in the most modern brewhouse in all the world. Try a glass tonight.

Schupp Raps 621

Eddie Schupp took over the spotlight in the Catholic Athletic Association bowling Wednesday night at the Bowlodrome with a hefty 621 triple. Eddie opened with a 195 blast and followed with games of 202 and 224 for his top effort.

In the runnerup slot was Ed Murphy who clicked for 207-589.

Others in the top bracket were Jack "Daisy" Schatzel with 200-562; Ed Norton 198-546; J. Guziak 209-526; Andy Gilday 200-499; Joe Hastings 191-533; Frank Leski 209-538; Joe Mannello 179-506; F. Sypca 181-509; R. Zech 186-519; and Johnny Zech 202-201-554.

Bea Barley and Phyl Gehringer waged a close battle for top honors in the Colonial Women's League last night with the former coming out on top with an edge of three pins. Bea posted a 201-546 while Miss Gehringer turned in a neat 196-543.

Other good scores were shot by Doris Wolff who hit 206-526; Evelyn Gross 191-192-522; winsome Betty Bailey 191-521; Evelyn Francis 188-519; Marie Kelekian 176-510; and Fay Horne 187-504.

Below the "500" mark but with noteworthy scores were E. Singer who clubbed 193-499; Chris Wilson 179-491; Ada Markle 197-491; Vivian Slover 211-484; Helen Murphy 192-472; and Reta Frederick 213-463.

Gloria Van Loan spearheaded the Sunshine League at Ferraro's Bowlodrome for the second straight week Wednesday night when she posted a three-game total of 473, two pins over her top mark of 471 last week. Her best solo game was 187.

The only other 400 was shot by Theresa Gregory who hit 451 and a top single effort of 156.

Other noteworthy scores for the novice keglerettes were Dottie Simmons with 133-394; V. LaForge 148-380; B. Sass 128-362; B. Landers 116-342; and Dot Strubel 115-340.

Only two "500" triples were turned in during the Booster League matches at the Bowlodrome this week. They belonged to E. Harper of the Montgomery-Ward squad who hit 514 while Dubin grabbed the second with an even blast of 500.

Harper had a string of 169-183-162 for his pace-setter while Dubin shot 172-148-180.

Other top efforts in the loop were turned in by F. Calao with 179-490; W. Senor 177-480; J. Burns 180-492; W. Sickler 175-477; Andy Campbell 183-491; Ray Ameli 175-475; and L. Cross 173-485.

H. Pine's 200-552 triple blast was enough to cop honors in the Church Federation League Wednesday night at the Y alleys. In the No. 2 position was Don Weeks who carved himself 207-548.

Other notable efforts included F. Schussler with 221-521; L. Brown 187-516; C. Hyde 185-502; Frank Roe 196-496; H. Baltz 178-494; J. Crosby 208-492; and Had DeGraff 182-490.

D. Wood led a low scoring session in the Church Federation League with a 502 series Tuesday night on the Y drives.

The Comforter No. 3 sub-anchor reeled off games of 165, 160 and 177. Runnerup, a pin behind, was Irwin Thomas with 193-145-163. Jim Little shot 494, H. Kelder 480, H. Minard 485, A. Schultz 475, Charlie Horne 479, and W. Wood 466.

Fran Kelder's 513 series took the play away from the big guns of the Friendship League at the Centrals. Rolling for Colonial Diner, Mrs. Kelder shot scores of 168-157-188.

Other highs included Ev Dolson's 487, Marge Jansen 479, Dot Rawding 492, Reta Frederick 475, Helen Murphy 462, Marge Van Alstyne 454, Miriam Posner 470, Lillian Buswell 451.

Elwood Robinson, who seems to get his six-hundred triples no matter where he bowls, was high in the Classic League with 610 on games of 211, 202, 197.

Also of interest were Fred Ferraro's 540, Lottie Cashara 201—559, Larry Petersen, Jr., 206-208—568, Fred Rice 201-214—598; John "Red" Schatzel 224—580; John Ferarro 540.

Ray Houghtaling's 574 with 174-199-201 was good enough to win first place in the individual sweepstakes in the Central Rec League.

Aluminum Soil Pipe

makes the Plumber's Job easier!

Plumbers like the new light weight Aluminum Soil Pipe because it has greater strength than cast iron - - - is not as brittle - - - won't break in handling - - - is 75% lighter in weight! (5 ft. length weighs only 13 lbs.) It is interchangeable with extra heavy cast iron pipe and will fit perfectly into any existing cast iron installation. Hand cuts easily and quickly.

Best by metallurgical test!

The following table gives test results in terms of weight loss as grams per sq. inch of surface:

Solution	Wt. Loss-Grams Per Sq. Inch of Surface Aluminum Uncoated	Aluminum Coated	Cast Iron Uncoated	Cast Iron Coated
Hydrochloric Acid 1%	0.150	*0.001	0.200	*0.001
Sulfuric Acid 1%	0.092	*0.001	0.064	0.001
Nitric Acid 1%	0.082	*0.001	0.196	*0.001
Citric Acid 1%	0.004	*0.001	0.226	*0.001
Sodium Hydroxide 1%	0.147	*0.001	0.001	0.001
Sodium Chloride 1%	*0.001	*0.001	0.013	*0.001
Sodium Chloride 30%	*0.001	*0.001	0.006	*0.001

*Indicates "less than".

Aluminum Soil Pipe is Highly resistant to corrosive action of atmosphere.

Completely resistant to sulphurous gases.
Acid and alkaline resistant. Coated inside and out.
Will not rust or scale.

Hotel and Resort Owners Urged to Attend Meeting

A special meeting of the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association has been called by Robert E. Teetsel, president, for Saturday afternoon, March 5, at 2 o'clock at The Barn for the purpose of discussing proposed legislation which would affect hotels, boarding houses, tourists homes, resorts or multiple dwelling owners.

Provisions of this legislation, Senate introduction 1444, Mitchell, referred to the Cities Committee, and Assembly introduction bill 1677, Morgan, referred to the General Law Committee, will be discussed by the local hotel and restaurant men and plans made for attending the public hearing on the bill on Tuesday, March 8, at Albany.

At the public hearing next Tuesday efforts will be made to have the bill deferred for a year in order to permit further study.

The hotel and restaurant owners of the area have been asked to contact all hotel and resort owners in their neighborhood, asking their cooperation in delaying action this year.

This bill affects all hotels of 30 rooms or more, of three stories or higher, in communities of 500,000 or less, which are classed as non-fire proof under the local building code and constructed prior to 1950.

The walls and ceiling of every hallway, passageway, dumb-waiters or shaft, must be covered with fire-resistive material or automatic sprinkler heads. All rooms used for the storing of furniture, mattresses, floor wax, linens, etc., must be equipped with sprinkler system and self

Grady Is Resting Under Blankets; On Special Diet

Yukon, Okla., March 3 (AP)—And now back to the bedside of Grady the cow.

You'll want to know how she's doing after getting out of that silo where she trapped herself on Washington's Birthday.

Frankly, Grady isn't feeling so well.

She's bedded down in Bill Mach's best stall, tenderly wrapped in two warm horse blankets. It's still chilly in Oklahoma.

Although the public swarms to see her, Grady isn't able to do much receiving.

She's on a special diet—ground corn and oats, alfalfa hay and cottonseed cake in cubes. It's just the food for an invalid cow on the road to convalescence—but she's only picking at it.

For Grady has been ill.

"We didn't think so at the time," said rancher Mach, "but in coming out of that tiny silo door she must have got hurt a bit."

The injuries didn't show up at first. They were to those little spiggots where you get the milk. They are very tender, and they were roughly bruised when the $1,000 pure bred Hereford was smeared with axle grease and push-pulled through the 17 by 25½ inch steel door.

"But she was feeling better this morning, and we're not really worried about her any more. We think she's going to pull through all right," said Mach, who has been tending her with Dr. L. J. Crump, the Yukon vet.

Praises Liberator

In spite of Grady's trouble, Mach had nothing but praise for Grady's liberator who set her free five days after she hurled herself into the silo in a fit of terror. This was Farm Editor Ralph Partridge of the Denver Post. He flew 700 miles to solve the problem that set North America guessing.

"Partridge couldn't help it if she got hurt a bit," Mach said. "He did everything he could and we're certainly grateful. Maybe the real injury came when she jumped in through the door rather than when she came out. We can't tell for sure."

There was a power winch standing by at the liberation party Saturday morning. The plan was to put Grady to sleep with knockout drops and haul her out—well greased—with the winch. But the minute Doc Crump shot the sleeping medicine needle into her, the greased cow went into action herself and squirmed out with great clatter of hooves and rolling of eyes.

"She looked peppy at first," said Mach, "but that sleeping medicine almost knocked her out for two days."

Not Much Ranching

Between tending Grady, Grady's fans and Grady's fan mail, Mach isn't doing much ranching.

As the cow's story spread over the world, advice and sympathy poured in. By midnight Wednesday the haul was:

Letters, 497.
Phone calls, 240.
Telegrams, 76.

"The postman has a special sack for us. . . . Our five neighbors can hardly use the party line," said Mach. "The visitors have come in thousands."

The Mach brothers ranch is only a mile south of U. S. Highway 66—"Main street of America"—and the silo is already a tourist shrine.

"They ask the gas stations where the silo is and come to see it," said Mach. "I otta be charging nickels, but I'm not."

munist-led states, including Russia, "people's democracies."

The statement charged that the Marshall Plan and "the proposed Atlantic war alliance" are part of "Wall Street's scheme of world domination."

Say Peace Possible

Foster and Dennis—both under federal charge of conspiracy to advocate forcible overthrow of the U. S. government—said in their statement that "we do not regard a new world holocaust as inevitable. We hold the peaceful coexistence of two different social systems wholly possible. We believe that efforts of the peoples to achieve peace can check the warmakers and create new opportunities to achieve peace."

The statement followed requests to the Communist leaders for comment on recent remarks by two Red leaders in Europe—Maurice Thorez of France and Palmiro Togliatti of Italy.

Togliatti said he believed the Italian people had a duty to aid the Russian army if it should pursue an "aggressor" onto Italian soil.

Thorez asked whether French Communists could be expected to "behave differently" from the peoples of Poland, Romania and Yugoslavia if the French people were led into war with Russia and the Red Army "had to chase the enemy onto our soil."

Foster and Dennis said they believe the French and Italian leaders' comments "emphatically serve the cause of universal peace."

Assailed at Capital

The Foster-Dennis statement was assailed last night in Washington by several members of Congress. There was no immediate comment by the State or Justice Department.

Typical Washington comments were:

Sen. Smith (R.-N.J.)—"That's just the Moscow line."

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois—"Like the Communist leaders in France and Italy, they take their orders directly from the Kremlin."

Senator Wherry (R.-Neb.), minority leader—"Communist allegiance has been to the Communist party, whether in war or peace."

Senator Pepper (D.-Fla.)—If any citizen is proved to have given wartime "aid and comfort to the enemy, he is guilty of treason under our Constitution and should be dealt with accordingly."

Senator Russell (D.-Ga.)—"Communism and patriotism always have been incompatible."

Dennis is on trial in federal court here with ten other members of the national board of the Communist party on the conspiracy charge. Trial of Foster, also indicted, was separated because he was adjudged too ill of a heart ailment to stand the lengthy proceedings at this time.

President Resigns Post

Newark, N. J., March 3 (AP)—The Right Rev. Msgr. James Francis Kelley resigned today as president of Seton Hall College. The resignation was announced by the Rev. Msgr. James A. Hughes, chancellor of the Catholic diocese of Newark. Msgr. Hughes said that a statement on the resignation would be issued later today.

Saugerties Group Considers Steps Toward Petition

A special meeting of the board of directors of the Saugerties Taxpayers Association was held Wednesday night for the purpose of determining what steps should be taken relative to the nominating petition filed by the Citizens Protective Party on February 10, it was announced today by John G. M. Hilton, president of the association.

Louis P. Francello, attorney for the association, told the directors that 20 signatures on this petition are invalid "due to the fact that initials were used instead of full given names." He further charged that the authentication on this nominating petition was faulty.

Francello said it was his opinion that a nominating petition, when signed by a subscribing witness, must be attested on each separate sheet bearing signatures, while the petition in question was attested only on the final page.

President Hilton explained that there were two possible courses of action open to the Taxpayers Party. First, he said, was to take the necessary legal steps to have this petition declared invalid and procure a court order directing the removal of the names of the Citizens Protective Party from the ballot at the coming village election, March 15. Second, he said, was to take no action "despite the attempt by the opposition to prevent the filing of the Taxpayers Party nominating petition by declaring that the time to file such a petition had expired."

Hilton did not disclose whether either of these steps had been taken by the directors at the meeting Wednesday night.

The Citizens Protective Party has nominated for re-election the present village officers: Franklin P. Clum, mayor; Frank S. Tongue, Christy W. Huberts and William F. Kelly, trustees.

These nominations have been opposed by the Taxpayers Party with nominations on their own slate consisting of: George Holmes for mayor, Elton Johnson, Jesse Van Gaasbeek and Frank Short for trustees.

Missing C-47 Found In Mexico; Nine Aboard Are Dead

Del Rio, Tex., March 3 (AP)—Sheriff A. E. Steinmetz said today that a missing C-47 crashed in the Colorado mountains south of here in Mexico and that all aboard were killed.

The plane had been missing for several days on a flight from Hamilton Field, Calif., to Kelly Field in San Antonio, Tex.

It was last reported over Wink, Tex., in the southwest part of the state, at 8:26 a. m. Monday. It had landed earlier at El Paso, Tex.

The plane had been the object of an extensive search both by land and air.

Kelly air force base at San Antonio yesterday announced the names of those on the transport. They were:

Maj. Lucian N. Youngblood, 30, Houston, Tex., who was one of Gen. Jimmy Doolittle's pilots in the first bombing raid on Japan.

Sgt. H. B. Jones, 35, Wellington, Colo.

Capt. George N. Pennington, 26, Chicago.

Cpl. Donald V. Nutt, Baker, Ore.

Capt. William R. Barnes, Jr., 29, Marshall, Tex.

1st Lt. William W. McClure, 24, Venetia, Pa.

2nd Lt. Glen J. Werden, 23, Warroad, Minn.

T. Sgt. Marcus Slayton, 26, Tyron, Ga.

D. H. Stewart, a navy man, address not listed.

The plane was found approximately 100 miles southwest of Del Rio, a border town, in the Tierras Colorados, rugged mountain country.

Sheriff Steinmetz said that the report that the plane was found was made by Oscar Gonzalez, a private flyer who lives at Villa Acuna.

He said Gonzalez told him that he spotted the wreckage from the air yesterday while flying over that part of the country.

He said Gonzalez told him that he was not looking for the plane.

Gonzalez told the sheriff that he returned to Villa Acuna and from there got word to a ranch. At the ranch, a man was sent on horseback to the scene of the crash.

Barbed Wire Is Used

Frankfurt, Germany, March 3 (AP)—U. S. Army engineers strung barbed wire entanglements around the blockaded Russian repatriation mission today, and set up floodlights. The explanation was obscure. A military policeman said the new move was to prevent the possibility of food being smuggled in to the eight blockaded Russians, and to prevent them from leaving "on their own," without reporting to American authorities first.

Infant Hurt in Car, Troopers Hold Father

Four-year-old Eileen Rockwell of Highland was slightly injured in an automobile accident at Ohioville, Wednesday afternoon and her father, John Rockwell, 29, was arrested for driving without a license, State Police reported.

Rockwell was entering Route 299 from a gas station at Ohioville, town of New Paltz, when his automobile was struck by a truck operating west on the highway by Roy Tuthill, 36, of R.F.D. 2, New Paltz, state police said.

Eileen was treated at the scene by Dr. Walter F. Rost, New Paltz, for a laceration on her face. Troopers arrested her father on the unlicensed driver charge, for which he will be given a hearing March 5, before Justice of the Peace I. C. Barnes of New Paltz.

Plane Aided B-50

Manila, March 3 (AP)—Air Force officials revealed today that a B-29 missing in northern Luzon was one of the tanker planes that refueled the globe-circling Lucky Lady II on its historic flight around the world. Brig. Gen. Jared V. Crabb, commander of the fighter wing at Clark Air Base, said the missing B-29 with its crew of nine, met and refueled the world circling B-50 but failed to get back here. It was reported last about 90 miles from Clark Air Base.

Carrier Reaches Port

Bayonne, N. J., March 3 (AP)—The $110,000,000 carrier Tarawa arrived here today to join the sleeping giants of the world's most powerful navy. Commissioned only 39 months ago, the 27,000-ton vessel will be inactivated at the navy yard in Brooklyn after her radar masts are cut off here to allow her to pass under the Brooklyn bridge. The mothballing process will take about six months.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 20 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 40 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity — This afternoon, mostly sunny, highest temperature in the low 40s, moderate northwest winds. Tonight, fair, low in the middle 20s, gentle to moderate northwest winds. Tomorrow mostly sunny, high in the middle 40s, winds becoming moderate southwest.

WARMER

Eastern New York — Partly cloudy today and a few snow flurries in the mountains of eastern New York. Fair tonight and colder in interior of eastern New York. Friday fair, rising temperatures in west and north portions of eastern New York.

Four Are Killed In Fire at Farm

Stillwater, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—Two men and two children lost their lives early today when a fire of undetermined origin levelled a farmhouse near here.

The dead were listed by state police as Robert McNeil, 86, his two grandchildren, Georgianna Skellie, 2, and Millard Skellie, 8, and Calvin Wadsworth, 55, a farmhand.

Two other children of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Skellie escaped from the blazing two-story frame structure about two miles from the Saratoga battlefield. The two children who escaped were identified as Edward, 13, and Alvin, 11.

State police reported that Mr. and Mrs. Skellie were not at home when the fire started, but arrived while the flames were at their height.

'Mr. Song' Contestants

Alfonzo McLemon of 617 Chapel street will sing "So Dear to My Heart" and right above, Joe Bernard of 30 Boulevard Knolls, Poughkeepsie, will sing "Old Black Magic" in the "Mr. Song of 1949" elimination contest to be held Friday at the Broadway Theatre. The contest for which $1,375 in prizes and money will be awarded will continue for 12 weeks. Any man over 18 is welcome to try out in the tests.

Lawmakers Praise Credit Move as Boon to Business

Washington, March 3 (AP)—Many lawmakers today welcomed as a boon to business a government order permitting smaller monthly installments on a list of items ranging from cook stoves to automobiles.

The Federal Reserve Board's action also was warmly greeted by the automobile industry, which saw in the move a possible lift to lagging car sales.

However, Edgar Kaiser, general manager of the Kaiser-Frazer Corp. said, "It is not enough," and a similar sentiment was expressed by Rep. Patman (D.-Tex.), who has been demanding an extensive easing of curbs on credit buying.

The board's order was issued last night on the heels of its report that installment credit outstanding had dropped in January for the first time in three years. The order becomes effective Monday. It affects these consumer items now under "anti-inflation" controls:

Cook stoves, dishwashers, ironers, refrigerators, washing machines, automobiles, air conditioners, radio and television sets, phonographs, sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, furniture and rugs.

This is what the Reserve Board order does:

1. Reduce the down payment for all controlled items, except automobiles, to 15 per cent, from the present 20 per cent. The down payment for autos will remain at one-third of the total price.

2. Allows 21 months to pay off the balance due after the cash payment on all items. The time limit in force now is 18 months where the credit amount is more than $1,000, or 15 months when it is less than $1,000.

The action followed by only a few hours the board's report on installment figures for January.

The general drop for that month was $145,000,000, although credit on automobiles increased $14,000,000. Total consumer credit on January 31 amounted to $8,051,000,000.

Senator O'Mahoney (D.-Wyo.), chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, called the board's action "a clear illustration of the wise exercise of government controls" and "a step that will tend to promote the distribution of inventories."

Chairman Maybank (D.-S.C.) of the Senate Banking Committee said he was "very pleased" at the new order, adding: "This will give veterans and others an opportunity to buy things. It will give production a chance to go ahead."

But Rep. Patman, chairman of the House Small Business Committee told newsmen:

"I'm disappointed. They should have extended the time of payments to at least 24 months, especially on automobiles. They are discriminating against a man with character who needs an automobile for business purposes. I think the board has demonstrated arbitrary action and it is an abuse of power."

Rep. Wolcott (R.-Mich.), a top Republican in economic affairs, said:

"The whole thing should be abandoned. It is highly discriminatory. It serves no useful purpose at the present time."

Patman said he will not support a continuation of the credit control authority unless President Truman is given power to pass on rules and regulations set up by the reserve board.

The authority expires June 30, unless continued. The wartime credit curbs were reestablished in part last year as an anti-inflation measure.

Women Cheat Death

Several natives have been killed by man-eating lions lately, in the Rufigi area of Tanganyika, Dar-es-Salaam reports. Two native women saved themselves from death by taking off their loin skirts and throwing them over the heads of the attacking man-eaters. While a lion tore one woman's cloth to shreds, she had time to call for help and the animal was shot with a poisoned arrow. The second woman had time to reach the door of her hut, followed by the beast. She ducked out and bolted the door — with the lion inside.

The common fishing, or angle, worm often is called a drew worm in some sections of the United States.

Playgoers Are Requested To Arrive by 8 o'Clock

All those planning to attend the Senior play at Kingston High School are asked to kindly be in their seats before the opening curtain at 8 o'clock.

Also in order to make clear the meaning of the numbers on the reserved seat tickets, Theron Culver, class adviser, said this morning that the performance number on each reserved seat ticket corresponds with the date: No. 3 will admit the holder to the performance tonight, March 3; No. 4 will be for Friday, March 4; and No. 5 will be for Saturday, March 5.

Gets 30 Days

Robert E. Veach, 24, of Highland, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Justice of the Peace William J. Upright Wednesday afternoon. Veach was arrested in Highland on a charge of indecent exposure by Sheriff George C. Smith, County Investigator Clayton Vredenburg and Fred Bragg of Highland.
